British Offer Of 10 Per Cent Held Accepted

Big Surprise Seen in Roosevelt's Debts Reply Today.

Deal With President Reported; Forcing of U. S. Hand Looms.

(Associated Press).

President Roosevelt will reply today to the British offer of partial payments on war debts with a message that is expected to spring a surprise among the company of nations.

Mr. Roosevelt will reply today to the British note offering a partial payment on the war debt installment due tomorrow, and it was indicated in high quarters last night that the surprise would be contained in either this message or an accompanying document.

Accord Held Accepted.

London, June 13 (A.P.).—Reports that Great Britain had settled the payment of her war debt installment of $75,850,000 due Thursday to America for 10 cents on the dollar, and new evidence that a European bloc is taking form to force the hand of the United States upon the problems of debts and currency stabilization threw the world economic conference into acute excitement today.

A high authority said that President Roosevelt has accepted this arrangement for Thursday's payment for himself alone, without pledging congressional ratification of it.

The American President insisted that this ratio—which is the basis on which Germany and the allied powers settled the reparation obligations at Lausanne—should not bind him to apply the 10 per cent rule to the final settlement of the debt.

Chamberlain Is Optimistic.

Satisfactory Anglo-American settlement on the war debt installment due Thursday was forecast tonight by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, in a three-minute speech before the House of Commons.

"The British Ambassador today handed the American State Department a note setting out the British proposals concerning the June installment," the chancellor said.

"We expect to receive President Roosevelt's reply tomorrow.

"We have no reason to suppose it will be other than satisfactory. But as it has not yet reached us I am not in a position to state its terms."

Hinged to Adjournment.

The American delegation to the economic conference made no comment on Mr. Chamberlain's statement, but general opinion was that the chancellor's announcement to the Commons is being held up and British public opinion is being kept in the dark regarding terms of the proposal until after the American Congress adjourns.

The fate of the economic conference and the value of American participation in it was regarded in American delegation quarters as dependent in large part upon success in patching up the debt disagreement.

A compromise by a partial payment on account is viewed as a possible means of passing the crisis with minimum danger to international good will, although delegates emphasized that they have no official connection with the debts question.

Hull's Speech Awaited.

After failing to appear at the conference hall where he was scheduled as first speaker today, Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, said tonight he planned to deliver the American keynote address tomorrow.

Mr. Hull's speech, eagerly awaited, is expected to concentrate on the Heart Device Keeps Man Alive Until Arrival of His Sons.

Milwaukee, June 13 (A.P.).—The strange story of a man literally "raised from the dead" and kept alive 48 hours after his heart had failed so he might tell his son a confidential matter of great importance was revealed today at the American Medical Association meeting.

His heart was kept beating artificially for two days by a machine known as the "artificial pacemaker" developed last year for restarting heart beats stopped by shock or other means.

The man knew he was dying and urged his doctors to keep him alive until arrival of his son, who had been summoned from San Francisco and was hurrying to New York. A few minutes afterward his heart apparently stopped beating, said Dr. E. Fritze, of Beth David Hospital, New York, who told the story. The pacemaker, which works by a needle inserted into the right auricle of the heart through the chest, was brought

NEW DRY RAIDS NET BIG STILL NEAR FORT

1,000 Gallons of Liquor and Two Men Seized in Fairfax County.

Striking the second blow in two days against illicit whisky operations in northern Virginia, a rapid moving Federal-State dry offensive yesterday swept into Fairfax County, arresting two, swearing out warrants for two others and confiscating 12,000 gallons of mash, 1,000 gallons of bottled whisky, a 750-gallon still, two automobiles and other paraphernalia.

The drive against bootlegging and whisky manufacturing has been gathering force since a crowd of druken men from the veterans reforestation camp at Fort Humphreys threw communities in the vicinity into a furore about a fortnight ago.

Yesterday's raid was made by Federal officers. A raid Monday made by State and Federal officers took place in the Gunston Neck vicintiy, netting aproximately 100 gallons of whisky.

The dry sally yesterday was made on the farm of Peyton Ballinger, the dwelling on which, police said, is rented to Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Curtis. Edward Jackson, of Washington, was arrested, but escaped. Jackson is said to be already on $1,000 bond awaiting trial on a prohibition offense committed near Occoquan several weeks ago.

Warrants were issued for a man and a woman yesterday, after a raid at the Curtis place and they were being sought last night. The still's machinery embraced the entire two-story dwelling and basement, Federal agents said and pipes led to storage vats in numerous outhouses.

A car belonging to the Curtises and a truck with District tags belonging to Jackson were seized by the raiders.

The Federal men next moved to the store of Ballinger, who lives nearby, and after a search of the store, arrested the merchant on a charge of possession of "ardent spirits."

Authorities at Fort Humphries yesterday said the liquor nuisance at the Army post had been somewhat abated recently, due to strict measures taken. Small quantities were still trickling in through mysterious sources, it was said.

2 Killed, 17 Injured In Outing Collision

Mobile, Ala., June 13 (A.P.).—Two persons were killed and seventeen were injured near here today in a collision of an automobile and a truck loaded with young folk on an outing.

Miss Dorothy Isham, 16, of Grand Bay, in whose honor the picnic was given, and Elmer Shirley, of Bayou la Batre, were badly crushed and died a few minutes after the crash.

Five Bandits Get $2,000 And Kidnap 2 in Flight

Lafayette, Ind., June 13 (A.P.).—Five men held up the Purdue State Bank here today, obtained approximately $2,000 in cash, forced a young man and woman into their car and escaped.

The young man, C. E. Young, a Purdue University student, who was in the bank at the time, and Dorothy Arnold, employed in the bank, were released a half mile from Lafayette.

REPEAL VOTED IN BAY STATE BY LANDSLIDE

11th to Ratify Swamps Drys at the Polls by 5-to-1 Victory.

Boston, June 13 (A.P.).—Massachusetts today joined the column of States committed to repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Delegates pledged to repeal won a smashing victory in the contest for seats in a constitutional convention to act on ratification of an amendment to repeal prohibition. It was the eleventh State to ratify in effect by election of wet delegates.

In each of the 15 congressional districts, from which three delegates were chosen, the wets rolled up huge majorities. Great gains, as compared with elections in years past when prohibition was involved, were made by the wets in all sections of the State, especially in the rural districts.

All but a few towns voted on the question of local license and in scores of small towns where in 1924 license was voted down, the vote today was in favor of it.

The vote today was in keeping with the general trend here since 1928, when the electorate memorialized Congress to repeal prohibition. The State liquor law, enacted in 1924 by a margin of 8,183, was repealed in 1930 by a margin of 274,802, and the wet victory today far surpassed that advantage. The general turnout of voters was light.

In ratifying repeal, Massachusetts joined Wyoming, Illinois, Indiana, New York, New Jersey, Michigan, Rhode Island, Delaware, Wisconsin and Nevada.

With returns from 1,685 precincts out of 1,707 tabulated, the combined popular vote in the Congressional districts gave: For repeal, 454,082; against, 97,732.

K. Buck May Take Trial Stand Today

Barnstable, Mass., June 13 (U.P.).—Kenneth Buck, 28, jobless chauffeur, on trial with his brother, Cyril, 41, charged with the kidnaping of 10-year-old Peggy McMath, may be a witness when court opens tomorrow, Judge Edward P. Hanify ruled late today.

His testimony, if necessary, will be an attempt by the defense to show that the second confession State police obtained from him, in which he allegedly assumed full responsibility for the kidnaping, was not voluntary.

The jury of twelve Cape Cod fishermen, farmers and mechanics will not be present during his testimony. They were excluded from the courtroom today as defense raised the question of admissibility of the confessions.

Seward, Alaska, Shaken By Slight Earthquake

Seward, Alaska, June 13 (A.P.).—An earthquake of moderate severity was felt here at 12:20 p. m. today, followed by a series of undulations. Previous lesser shocks had been felt occasionally since early yesterday.

This region was visited by a severe earthquake six weeks ago.

346 Get Diplomas From West Point

West Point, N. Y., June 13 (A.P.).—Diplomas were presented to 346 members of the class of 1933 at the United States Military Academy here today by Secretary of War George H. Dern and an address was delivered to the graduating class by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff.

The first cadet to receive his diploma was Kenneth E. Fields, of Elkhart, Ind., who not only stood first in his class academically but was first captain and regimental commander of the corps and winner of seven out of the nine awards for military and academic efficiency.

Among senior appointments was that of a captaincy for Jonathan O. Zaman, Washington, D. C.

Spouse Seeks Divorce From Society Woman

Reno, Nev., June 13 (A.P.).—Mrs. Emelie K. Bishop, New York society matron, who resides in Greenwich, Conn., was sued for divorce here today by Julian T. Bishop on grounds of cruelty. They were married in Philadelphia December 4, 1920.

Bavaria Bans Meetings After Rioting of Nazis

Munich, June 13 (A.P.).—Bavarian police tonight banned all outdoor meetings until further notice as a result of recent Nazi clashes here during the Catholic Journeymen's convention.

Nazi Riots in Vienna Lead to Martial Law

Hitler Followers Object of Police Raids in Wild Disorder.

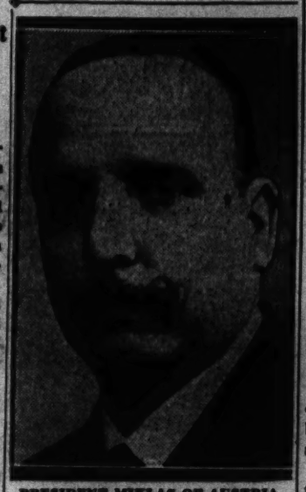

Vienna, June 13 (A.P.).—Maintenance of public safety in Vienna was taken out of the hands of its Socialist burgomaster today and turned over to Federal Police Chief Eugene Seydel as the city continued in an uproar with bombings and other disturbances.

The shift was made by the federal government which also appointed commissars for Austria's nine states. Police Chief Seydel will be responsible solely to the government.

Machine guns and helmeted state police were stationed about the chancellery and the former Hapsburg palace.

These steps came hard on the heels of a protest lodged by Alfred Frauenfeld, leader of the Austrian Nazis, against government accusations that Nazis have been resorting to terrorism. The protest was made to President Miklas.

Adolf Hitler's homeland became increasingly unsafe for his followers as police arrested hundreds in raids on

SPAIN-VATICAN SPLIT TO BE SOUGHT TODAY

Radical Socialists Also Will Demand Recognition of Soviet Russia.

Madrid, June 13 (A.P.).—The Radical Socialist party, which has held the balance of power in the Spanish Congress, will present a resolution tomorrow urging the breaking off of relations with the Vatican and the recognition of Soviet Russia.

Spanish bishops have called upon Catholics to oppose the enforcement of the new law confiscating church property and converting religious orders into civil societies. The law also was attacked recently in an encyclical issued by the Pope.

The national committee of the Conservative party, in the meanwhile, announced it was withdrawing its members from Parliament immediately because it believed "the present government is a dictatorship which has arbitrarily seized control."

This followed the organization of a new cabinet under Premier Manuel Azana, who had resigned last Thursday only a few days after the religious law was invoked.

Deputy Alvares Mendizabal said many Radical Republicans, the main opposition party in Congress, are ready to join the fourteen Conservatives in withdrawing unless "remedial steps are taken."

The Federalists, with 20 members in Congress, also issued a manifesto declaring they would withdraw support from the government if it did not abolish "discriminatory laws," and cited the law of defense of the republic.

Roosevelt to Ask Smith to Resign

(Associated Press.)

Congressional leaders have been informed that President Roosevelt plans to ask George Otis Smith for his resignation as chairman of the Federal Power Commission. Smith, former head of the Geological Survey, was appointed to the Power Commission by former President Hoover.

Frank R. McNinch, a member of the commission, is reported to be slated for Smith's place.

RETURN OF MATTERN TO SIBERIA SURPRISE

Heavy Weather en Route to Alaska Believed Cause of Back-Tracking.

Moscow, June 13 (A.P.).—Jimmie Mattern backtracked on his globe-girdling flight and unexpectedly landed at Khabarovsk today 8 hours and 5 minutes after he had left that Siberian town for Nome, Alaska.

The Texan returned to Khabarovsk at 6:20 a. m., Moscow time (10:20 p. m. Monday, Eastern standard time). No reason was given as to why he suddenly reversed his direction, but it was generally supposed he had bucked into stiff head winds and heavy weather and found it impossible to make Nome safely.

He had left Khabarovsk at 10:15 p. m., Moscow time (2:15 p. m., Eastern standard time) Monday. Weather reports at the time warned of heavy weather ahead, particularly in the region of Kamchatka Peninsula, northeast of his starting point.

The Khabarovsk-to-Nome leg of Mattern's round-the-world solo flight is 2,500 miles long, largely over water.

The aviator had planned to cross the Sea of Okhotsk and the Bering Sea without stopping, but weather reports were adverse and it was thought likely the flier would stop off at Petropavlovsk, on Kamchatka Peninsula, northeast of Khabarovsk, before attempting the overwater jump.

New York College Expels 20 in Riot

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Twenty students were expelled from the College of the City of New York today on the recommendation of a special committee formed to investigate recent antiwar disturbances.

Eight other students were suspended until January, 1934, and three more were suspended indefinitely.

"The disciplinary action taken," said a statement announcing the expulsions and suspensions, "was in no way related to the views of the students affected concerning military training or other controversial questions. The issue is whether college students shall be allowed to interfere with a stated college function."

Macon Over World's Fair During 48-Hour Test Flight

Giant Dirigible Cruises Above Exposition Grounds and Chicago Suburbs, "Lazying Around," Before Returning to Its Home Station at Akron.

Chicago, June 13 (A.P.).—The dirigible Macon soared over Chicago again tonight at 9:15 (Central daylight time), its nose pointed to the Northwest. Shortly before, it had turned back from an eastward course at Michigan City, Ind., about 90 miles from Chicago.

The hull of the giant ship appeared over the world's fair grounds slightly more than two hours after it had vanished in the Southeast.

At Oak Park, northwest suburb, a plane piloted by a police officer took off to meet the Macon and escorted it on a several minute's cruise over the village.

The dirigible then disappeared to the northeast.

The Macon had not established communications with the Naval Station here since it left on what was thought to have been its homeward journey.

Officials at the Great Lakes Station, however, said apparently the craft "was lazying around" in the Midwest to complete its 48 hours in the air for its test flight started last night from Akron.

When the craft appeared here tonight, as on its visit a few hours earlier, it was navigating without the slightest difficulty.

The Macon dipped in salute to crowds at the Century of Progress shortly before 7 p. m. (C. D. T.).

The Macon left its base at Akron, Ohio, last night on its test cruise with 90 persons aboard. It appeared over Chicago at dawn, then nosed northward to Milwaukee and, hugging the shore of Lake Michigan, sailed on to Newberry, in upper Michigan.

At 3:30 p. m. the huge ship moved over Charlevoix, Mich., retracing its course south, after veering over the lake near Frankfort.

The south trip was fast. At 4:55 (C. S. T.), the massive ship again appeared over Milwaukee, reaching here less than an hour later.

PLANS TO SAVE THOUSANDS OF JOBS FINISHED

However, Senate Passes Bill to Appoint All Above $5,000.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

While secrecy attended proceedings, the Council of Personnel Administration yesterday perfected the plan by which they may save thousands of jobs of Federal workers endangered by administration reorganization and economy proposals.

The plan involves submission to the heads of the new non-Civil Service agencies, set up by the present Congress, the names of efficient Civil Service employes who have been or are about to be furloughed.

Although it is not mandatory upon the new establishments to use Civil Service eligibles, it is understood administration pressure will be brought to bear to this end. The Civil Service Commission will continue to certify furloughed workers for reappointment to vacancies occuring in the classified service.

Several New Blows Struck.

While these plans were in formulation, several new blows were struck at the present Civil Service set-up at the Capitol yesterday—blows that were construed as bids for additional patronage.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill giving the President power to appoint, subject to Senate confirmation, Federal employes earning more than $5,000 a year. This would have the effect of transferring from the regular Civil Service appointment channels about 3,817 jobs in this salary class. The President is said to be personally opposed to this bill and may veto it if it passes the House.

On the heels of this action, the Senate Civil Service Committee reported to the Senate a resolution to remove from Civil Service status about 2,000 employes who were "covered over" into the Civil Service by Executive order during the Hoover administration. An amendment was added to give these workers privilege of taking a competitive examination for the jobs they now hold.

Apportionment Inquiry Opens.

Meanwhile, Senator McCarran (Democrat), Nevada, failed in an effort to provide $20,000,000 more in the fourth deficiency bill to take care of scientific and research activities in the Departments of Commerce, Agriculture and Interior, which he declared have been "crippled" by administration economy plans.

Earlier yesterday, the House Civil Service Committee opened its investigation of alleged Civil Service Commission evasion of the old State apportionment law in making appointments to the Federal service. A subcommittee was appointed to find out to what extent the commission has made appointments in the past without regard to State quotas.

Refuse to Comment.

Yesterday's meeting of the Council of Personnel Administration, headed by President Harry B. Mitchell, of the Civil Service Commission, was marked by the utmost secrecy. Members of the council were bound not to divulge details of the proceedings, it was said.

Attempts to penetrate this silence were mostly futile, although it was

Lincoln's Own Spy Expires in Chicago

Chicago, June 13 (A.P.).—Jason H. Edgerly, 95, personal spy during the Civil War for President Abraham Lincoln, died at his home in suburban Blue Island tonight.

Broad shouldered and more than 6 feet tall, Edgerly maintained to the last the military bearing that first drew Lincoln's attention to him.

When war broke out, Lincoln hired Edgerly as field reporter or personal spy, and gave him free entrance to the executive mansion at any time to bring confidential reports from the battle fronts. For stealing the Willow Creek battle plans from the field headquarters of Robert E. Lee, Confederate general, Lincoln gave Edgerly the nickname "The Flea," crediting him thereby with stealing the plans "from under the very nose of Lee."

War Undersecretary Forced Out Under Fire

Paris, June 13 (A.P.).—Forced out under fire, Undersecretary of War Gaston Hulin today presented his resignation to Premier Daladier.

This marked the first break in the ranks of the French cabinet. Hulin recently was disbarred at Poitiers after an investigation of charges against him of unethical conduct. He appealed the decision.

Veteran Snag Blocks Plan to Close Session

Senate Returns Bill to Conference Despite Warnings.

Roosevelt May Make Personal Appeal on Hill Today.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

In the face of repeated warnings that a White House veto awaits any further relaxation of veteran economies, the Senate stood by its guns last night and again frustrated the plan of administration leaders for sine die adjournment of the special session.

After final action on three other major bills—the Glass banking reform measure, the industrial recovery legislation, and the $3,500,000,000 public works appropriation—the Senate rejected a partial conference report on the veteran section of the independent offices appropriation bill.

By a vote of 43 to 31 the partial report was sent back to conference after less than an hour's debate.

Vote Tests Strength.

On this direct test of strength on the veteran issue, shortly before 9 o'clock, the administration forces suffered a second damaging setback in their program for a quick adjournment.

Although there were cloakroom reports last night that President Roosevelt might make a personal appearance before the Senate today to appeal for the preservation of his economy program, White House officials indicated that no final decision had been made on this suggestion. Senate leaders, on the other hand, continued to work for an agreement on the veteran snarl, hopeful that a satisfactory arrangement might be worked out today.

Meanwhile, the problem of the war debt settlements was injected into the Senate debate, with a suggestion by Senator Arthur R. Robinson (Republican), Indiana, that Congress remain in session throughout the week to see what arrangements are offered by the European governments on the semiannual payments due tomorrow.

Debts Action Urged.

Reading London news dispatches hinting a compromise settlement from England Senator Robinson urged his colleagues to continue in session until details of the projected arrangement might be examined by Congress.

A third obstacle to adjournment arises from the executive order sent up by President Roosevelt last Saturday calling for consolidation and regrouping of scattered administrative agencies.

Senator McNary, Republican leader, served notice on the floor yesterday that the consolidation order would be debated at length before adjournment. Several motions to invalidate certain sections of the President's order are before the Senate.

May Block Consolidation.

Supported by that group which insists upon remaining in session until the war debt settlements are announced, and also by the group which is maneuvering to break down the essentials of the March economy act applicable to veteran pensions, the resolutions against the consolidation order already command a comfortable majority. They can be called up for consideration at any time.

Surveying this legislative situation in the Senate, some influential members of that body last night abandoned all hope of adjournment of the session this week.

The test on the veteran question came on a motion by Senator Black

Depositors

Here Get Bank Guarantee by Eleventh-Hour Action of House and Senate.

Last minute action of the House and Senate last night barely saved for depositors in District of Columbia banks the same bank deposit guarantee protection afforded other banks in the country by the Glass-Steagall bank reform bill passed yesterday.

Senator Robert J. Bulkley (Democrat), Ohio, sponsored a concurrent resolution of House and Senate to remedy the oversight. It was adopted by both House and Senate without objection after brief explanations divulging its purpose.

As a result of this action, depositors in Washington banks will have temporary protection up to $2,500 from January 1 to July 1, 1934, under the provisions of the Vandenberg amendment.

After July 1, when the permanent deposit insurance features go into effect, deposits up to $10,000 will be guaranteed 100 per cent, by operation of a scale graduated up to $50,000 and over. In this last class, only 50 per cent protection is furnished.

ROOSEVELT PLEADS FORECLOSURE DELAY

President Signs Home Loan Act; Asks Mortgagors to Wait for Money.

Appealing to mortgage holders to postpone foreclosures until the Government's home refinancing plan is in operation, President Roosevelt yesterday signed the home owners loan act as Chairman Stevenson of the Home Loan Bank Board explained how to take advantage of the new law.

The act sets up a new corporation owned by the Government and permitted to issue bonds to the extent of $2,000,000,000. Where any foreclosure is about to be made on a home worth less than $20,000, the new corporation will pay the mortgage holder in bonds and take over the lien on the property.

"In signing the 'Home Owners Loan Act of 1933,'" the President said, "I feel that we have taken another important step toward the ending of deflation which was rapidly depriving many millions of farm and home owners from the title and equity to their property." The new corporation will be known as the Home Owners Loan Corporation, with headquarters in the Department of Commerce Building. Branch offices will be established throughout the country, and all applications for relief must be made to the nearest branch.

Homes worth less than $20,000, with mortgages of less than 80 per cent of the home value, come under the terms of the act. The home owner, after the refinancing, pays the Government 5 per cent on the mortgage for 15 years. The original mortgage holder receives bonds which pay 4 per cent for 18 years. The payment of the interest is guaranteed by the Government, although the payment of the principal is not. In some cases, if the mortgage holder will not accept bonds as payment for the mortgage, he may receive cash. Six per cent interest must be paid on these loans refinanced with cash, and not more than 40 per cent of the value of the home may be loaned.

The corporation is also permitted to make cash loans up to 50 per cent of the value of unencumbered property where this money is needed for taxes, necessary repairs, or maintenance. Appraisals for the corporation will be handled by the Home Loan Bank Board. The corporation may also subscribe to half the stock of home financing associations to be established in communities where these facilities do not now exist. The other half of the stock must be taken by local residents.

Shippers Must Prove Beer Is Unintoxicating

Atlanta, June 13 (A.P.).—A Federal jurist today placed on shippers who haul beer in Georgia the burden of proving their product is not intoxicating.

An injunction sought by R. B. Richmire to restrain Sheriff E. M. Legg of Cobb County from seizing interstate beer in his county was denied by Federal Judge E. Marvin Underwood who ruled the Federal beer law does not authorize transportation of liquors "intoxicating in fact" in a State which prohibits such transportation. He held that it is up to the shipper to prove in any civil action that the beer is not intoxicating.

KUHN, LOEB & CO. QUIZ OPENS JUNE 26

Fall Date Is Dropped After Brief Rest; Otto Kahn Will Be Witness.

(Associated Press.)

Senate investigators of private banking yesterday announced officials of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. would be called to the committee's witness stand on June 26 as their inquiry resumes again where it left off last week with J. P. Morgan & Co.

The central figure on the committee's stage, in place of J. P. Morgan, will be Otto H. Kahn, senior partner of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who was born in Germany in 1867, the same year Morgan was born here.

Kahn, known throughout the world as a financier, is equally famous as a patron of music.

Decision to resume the inquiry this month instead of waiting until fall was reached yesterday at a meeting of the Senate banking subcommittee in charge of the investigation, attended by Ferdinand Pecora, its counsel.

The committee decided to follow the Kuhn, Loeb inquiry with investigations of Dillon, Read & Co. and the Chase National Bank, but not necessarily immediately.

10 Days Estimated Time.

Pecora estimated the Kuhn, Loeb inquiry would take about ten days. He indicated it would follow the same lines as the investigation of the house of Morgan.

It is designed, he said, "to show the general activities and methods of operation" employed by the firm, which, next to Morgan's, is America's most famous private banking house.

In addition to Kahn, the committee has subpened George W. Bovenizer and Benjamin J. Buttenwieser, partners in the firm. Others may be called by the time the hearings open.

In the Dillon, Read inquiry the star witness will be Clarence Dillon. He also will be accompanied by other members of the firm.

Whether the committee goes right ahead with Dillon, Read after completing the Kuhn, Loeb inquiry, depends, Pecora said, on the circumstances, the committee, the weather, and "the endurance of the counsel."

Chase Inquiry Later.

Pecora indicated he was not overanxious to proceed at once with the other investigations, particularly after the strain under which he has worked during the past few weeks. He reported, however, that he was ready and the committee voted unanimously to proceed.

The inquiry into the Chase National Bank and its security affiliate, the Chase Securities Corporation, probably will not come until later in the summer.

Albert H. Wiggin, former chairman, who is now in Europe, has been subpened to appear July 14, but Pecora's preliminary work on this institution is not nearly so far advanced as on the other two houses.

In turning to the Chase Bank, the committee will be completing a phase of the inquiry which was interrupted by its scrutiny of private banking.

An investigation of the National City Bank was made at the end of the last session of Congress, but the Chase inquiry was postponed to take up the private bankers at the suggestion of President Roosevelt.

President's Statement On Home Loan Act

In signing the "home owners loan act of 1933," I feel that we have taken another important step toward the ending of deflation which was rapidly depriving many millions of farm and home owners from the title and equity to their property.

The act extends the same principle of relief to home owners as we have already extended to farm owners. Furthermore, the act extends this relief not only to people who have borrowed money on their homes but also to their mortgage creditors.

It will, of course, take a little while to set up the machinery necessary to carry the principles of the act into effect. In the meantime, I appeal to mortgage creditors and all others who have claims against home owners and ask them, until full opportunity has been given to make effective the refinancing provisions of the home-mortgage act that they abstain from bringing foreclosure proceedings and that they abstain from seeking to dispossess the home owners who are in debt to them.

Cooperation between the officials of the Home Owners Loan Corporation, the mortgagor and the mortgagees during the next few months will make many foreclosures unnecessary and will do substantial justice to all parties concerned.

Divorce Proceedings No Bar to Campo Bello Visit; Wife of President Says Daughter-in-Law Welcome to White House.

(Associated Press.)

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt revealed on her return to Washington yesterday that Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt and her baby, William Donner Roosevelt, will be guests at the Roosevelt summer home in Campo Bello, New Brunswick, as originally planned.

Mrs. Roosevelt said that she hoped to be able to go to Campo Bello about July 15, to help Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt get settled.

This announcement was made notwithstanding the fact that Mrs. Roosevelt had just returned to the White House from the West Coast, where she visited Elliott in Los Angeles, and made the first announcement that he was going to Nevada to establish a residence in order that his wife might get a divorce.

That fact, however, apparently has not altered her friendly feeling for her daughter-in-law, because yesterday Mrs. Roosevelt mentioned having had a long distance telephone conversation with her in making plans for the trip to Campo Bello.

Asked whether or not Elliott's wife was coming to the White House, as had been reported, Mrs. Roosevelt answered that she had received no word from her to that effect, but that if she came she would certainly be happy to see her.

Mrs. Roosevelt also volunteered the information that Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt had friends in a cottage close by the Roosevelt summer home, and therefore would enjoy herself there.

The First Lady returned to the White House after only eight days away with the exclamation, "I feel as though I'd been gone a year, I've done so many things!"

And one of the things she discovered, during her first night flying, was:

"Dawns are far more beautiful than sunsets."

DOCTORS COMMEND STAND ON VETERANS

Medical Association Favors Benefit Reduction for Non-service Disability.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 13 (A.P.).—President Roosevelt's policies on veterans' relief were commended today by the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association.

A telegram to the President and members of Congress approved reduction of Federal benefits for war veterans with disabilities not service-connected.

The House of Delegates, policy-forming group of the association, asked that the program of veteran relief be equitable to the taxpayer as well as the veteran, but urged the Government to provide all reasonable medical and hospital care to veterans suffering from service-connected disabilities.

The House of Delegates, in open session, shied away from the knotty problem of the association's attitude toward birth control. That question will be taken up in executive session later.

Dr. Dean Lewis, of Baltimore, in his presidential address before the association, said improper distribution and overproduction of physicians and increase of specialists "should have serious consideration at the present time." There is now one physician to every 780 people in the United States and a surplus of about 25,000. Even though overproduction is controlled, the number of medical schools should not be reduced because more doctors may be needed in the future, he added.

Dr. Lewis was installed as president succeeding Dr. Edward H. Cary, of Dallas, Tex., at the opening general meeting here.

Citizens Association Approves Tax Measure

Members of the Sixteenth Street Heights Citizens Association last night voted their approval of bill introduced in Congress by Representative Clarence J. McLeod, of Michigan, asking that the District Commissioners be empowered to use surplus tax funds, instead of having them impounded in the Treasury.

The association passed a motion asking that an addition be built to Paul Junior High School, and that a new Senior High School be built in that section of the city. They requested that lawns and trees on District property be trimmed.

Prosecutor's Brother Charged With Forgery

Charged with forging the name of his brother, John Galleher, Commonwealth's attorney of Loudoun County, Va., William Galleher, 35, of Leesburg, Va., was arrested by detectives here yesterday.

He is alleged to have signed his brother's name to three checks totaling $50, executed to Sadie A. Gentry, whose address was given as the Woodward Building. Galleher was held on a bond of $10,000.

Washington Beer Tax Is Below Expectations

Tax returns from May beer sales in Washington failed to attain expectations of District tax officials, Tax Assessor William P. Richards announced yesterday. Total returns reached $15,603.86, showing but a slight increase over April returns of $15,105.29.

Officials had estimated that the May tax might reach $18,000 or $20,000 as the number of licensees had increased by several hundred and because many permit holders had operated less than two weeks in April.

Dr. Cassidy Honored With Law Scholarship

Dr. Lewis C. Cassidy, of Philadelphia, professor of law in the Georgetown University Law School, has received a law scholarship awarded jointly by the Academy of International Law and the government of The Netherlands. Its purpose is research work at The Hague during the summer.

One Snake

Results in Death of Boy and Serious Injury of Another.

Beckenridge, Tex., June 13 (A.P.).—One boy was killed and another was injured dangerously today because of a snake.

James Tolliver, jr., 11, was killed as he handed a rifle to his father while trying to kill a snake which had crawled under his house. The trigger hit a rock and the weapon was discharged.

A neighbor started out to fing a physician and ran over T. Williams, jr., 5, fracturing his skull. He was not expected to live.

COLLINGS SUSPECT CLEARED BY WIDOW

Positive Dreger Not Slayer, Wife Tells Investigators After Interview.

Westport, Conn., June 13 (A.P.).—Another chapter in the two-year-old mystery of who killed Benjamin P. Collings, Stamford yachtsman and engineer, was closed tonight after his widow said Frank Dreger, confessed burglar, was not one of his slayers.

Dreger's name came into the case yesterday when Mrs. Collings said his profile resembled that of the elder of the two men who boarded her husband's yacht Penguin in September, 1931, bound and beat her husband to death, tossed his body into the sound and abducted her.

No trace of the slayers has ever been found, although Mrs. Collings on first viewing Dreger said he looked more like one of the two men than any one she had seen since the tragedy on Long Island Sound.

Today, State police brought Dreger here so Mrs. Collings could hear his voice. After being closeted with Dreger, Fred Munder, assistant district attorney from Suffolk County, New York, and her attorney, Matthew E. Hanna, and police for a half hour, Mrs. Collings said she was "positive" Dreger was not one of the slayers.

Munder announced immediately that as far as he was concerned, the Dreger angle of the case was closed. He said he would return at once to Suffolk County.

BRITISH-ROOSEVELT ACCORD IS REPORTED

problem of excessive tariffs and to skirt carefully the subject of debts.

Hull, attempting today at a meeting of the bureau of the economic conference to obtain the post of chairman of the monetary commission for a member of his delegation, James M. Cox, was blocked by opposition from Premier Daladier, of France, and supporting groups.

M. Daladier demanded that this post go the representative of a country which still maintains the gold standard—presumably France itself—and joined in urging the American Secretary of State to accept the chairmanship of the Economic Commission, the other major body which will determine the course of the parley.

Suggestions of Quitting.

Mr. Hull declined the economic chairmanship for his delegation and the question of direction of the two committees was postponed until tomorrow when further developments in the fight are looked for.

Among the American delegates some suggestions that their representation might quit the conference were heard today when the demand for immediate settlement of war debts was renewed in the plenary session by spokesmen for Italy and South Africa.

American feelings were ruffled also by renewed insistence from French quarters, echoed by Italian and Polish speakers, that the dollar and the pound must be stabilized before the conference can proceed to deal with any other question on the agenda.

The German demand for early solution of credit and financial problems, now keenly distressing the government of the Reich, was brought before the world gathering by Baron von Neurath, who declared that "ultimately international debts can be paid only in goods and services."

Goals Set by France.

Premier Daladier this morning boldly announced his government's desire for "monetary security" for commercial exchange.

After currency stabilization, France desires also to see the conclusion of economic accords and the launching of big international public works schemes to alleviate unemployment and stimulate the flow of capital, the premier said.

Two American delegates, Sam D. McReynolds and Mr. Cox, came in time to hear the next speaker, Guido Jung, Italian finance minister.

Coming to the support of Prime Minister MacDonald, who injected the war debts question yesterday, although this subject is not on the agenda of the meetings, Signor Jung declared that this problem was of major importance.

The Polish delegate, Adam Koc, appealed for the stabilization of currencies—thus supporting French policy—and urged a "rearrangement of the debts."

It was first thought that Secretary Hull would take the floor in the convention tomorrow but a tentative slate of Wednesday's speakers appearing tonight included only Chancelor Dollfuss of Austria, Neville Chamberlain for Great Britain, Paul Hymans, Belgian foreign minister, and Maxim Litvinoff, leader of the Soviet delegation.

ACCORD ON BRITISH PAYMENT IN SIGHT

France Will Repeat Default; Lindsay Frequent Caller at White House.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The basis of an agreement between the United States and Great Britain on the payment of Britain's $78,000,000 war-debt account due tomorrow was finally in sight last night following a day tense with international uncertainties. The British debt note arrived yesterday and the American answer to it is expected to go forward early today. The texts of the two documents will be made public simultaneously in London and here.

The debt proposal from the United Kingrom was not made, however, without several last-minute alterations. In the last two days Sir Ronald Lindsay has called at the White House or at the Department of State on an average of twice a day.

Yesterday when the note was almost completed in London, he made another visit to Acting Secretary Phillips and the definitive British note was not dispatched until he had made his report to Whitehall. The debt arrangement was believed to have been revealed to the President at all of its preliminary stages and, for this reason, it is believed assured that any British proposal that has been made will have already been assured of tacit acceptance by this Government.

Italian Ambassador Rosso was also a caller at the Department of State yesterday afternoon bearing an aide memoire from the Italian Government setting forth the capacity to pay of the Italian government as it exists at the present time. Premier Mussolini is understood to have vigorously deprecated any possibility of a default.

France will default tomorrow, as she already did on the 15th of last December. However, the French position is only a default on individual debt payments and is not intended as a renunciation of all further debt payments, it was stated in authoritative French sources yesterday.

Other nations due to make checks payable to the Treasury of the United States tomorrow had their representatives at the Department of State yesterday, too. Roumanian Minister Charles A. Davila was with Assistant Secretary Moley in the morning and in the afternoon Czechoslovakian Minister Ferdinand Veverka, Belgian Ambassador Paul May, the Finnish Minister and the Latvian Charge were also visitors.

PLANS COMPLETED TO SAVE U. S. JOBS

definitely learned that the council's plan for coping with the employment situation was practically complete.

Asked to confirm this persistent report, E. Claude Babcock, secretary to the Civil Service Commission, and others, refused to make any comment.

Extensive Use of Furloughs.

The plan worked out by the council of personnel administration will not obviate extensive use of furloughs in putting the program into operation. Even some dismissals will be necessary, but the hope is that competent employes will be protected against any general lay-off.

Provision for "rotative furloughs" carried in the independent offices bill, now in conference, is expected to be taken full advantage of in carrying out the plan. Under the "rotative" plan, a uniform system of furloughs is contemplated, that should spread the burden over the whole field of employes.

Immediately following a meeting of the House Civil Service Committee yesterday, a subcommittee headed by Representative Jeffers (Democrat), Alabama, was appointed to hear evidence on alleged civil service evasion of the State quota law in making new appointments.

Hastings Is Heard Briefly.

The committee heard briefly Representative Hastings (Democrat), Oklahoma, author of the resolution. Afterward, Representative Jeffers explained the subcommittee had no intention of "riding" the Civil Service Commission in pursuing its inquiry.

The subcommittee, he said, will attempt to discover what obstacles the commission encountered in attempting to appoint employes with a view to State quotas. He said they also would go into the question of "blanketing" large groups of employes into the service by Executive order, which he said, defeats the object of the State quota law.

Assisting him on the subcommittee will be Representative Ramspeck (Democrat), Georgia; Dingell (Democrat), Michigan; Gibson (Republican), Vermont, and Rogers (Republican), Massachusetts.

Senate Republican opposition to individual features of the President's $25,000,000 reorganization program came to the surface only once yesterday, when Senator McNary (Republican), Oregon, attempted to call up his joint resolution to block proposed 25 per cent cuts in agricultural extension work.

Opinion of Robinson.

Debate on the issue was postponed at the behest of Senate Democratic Leader Robinson, who pointed out there was other business pending before the Senate. Senator Robinson indicated there will be ample opportunity to debate the McNary resolution and others aimed at consolidation of Federal procurement activities and Federal building and property administration.

Senate conferees on the national recovery bill yesterday were assailed by Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, for failing to work for the Sirovich plan for a Civil Service board of appeal, attached to the bill as a rider.

The conference report on the recovery act was passed yesterday without the Sirovich proposal, which would have created the office of Federal "liaison officer" to arbitrate employes' grievances in cooperation with a Civil Service board of appeal.

Reserve Officer Sent to Duty.

(Associated Press.)

Second Lieut. Verner Christensen Aurell, of Richmond, Va., a member of the Military Intelligence Reserve, yesterday was ordered to active duty at Washington, effective June 14. He will serve in the office of the assistant chief of staff, in charge of intelligence for two weeks.

Elite Thief

$25,000 Loot of Pipes, Tobacco and Jewelry Picked Carefully.

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—A discriminating burglar stole $25,000 worth of valuable pipes, fine cigars and tobacco and jewlery from a Fifth avenue tobacco shop before dawn today.

The theft was discovered when the store was opened this morning, but the amount of the loss was not ascertained until employes completed taking inventory hours later.

The burglar took only straight grain briar pipes ranging in price from $35 to $65 apiece and the best in stock of the other articles. George Corell, manager of the store, said the thief showed such discrimination he must have spent four hours selecting his loot.

SMALL COUNTRIES TURN TO IL DUCE

Belgian Prophetic as U. S., Britain and France Are Wrangling.

London, June 13 (A.P.).—The small nations of Europe tonight turned longing eyes toward Rome and a possible bloc under Benito Mussolini's strong-arm dictatorship as the big powers, squabbling over war debts and stabilization, threatened progress of the World Economic Conference.

"Should the United States, Great Britain and France fail to point the way out of the economic morass at the World Economic Conference," Emile Francoui, the veteran Belgian diplomat, told the Associated Press, tonight "the small nations of Europe will cluster about one sole statesman capable of leadership—Mussolini.

"Il Duce is fostering sensible ideas for united action while the great powers are talking about civilization dropping over the abyss, but doing nothing. The small nations, crying for leadership, will follow Mussolini."

The northwestern European States—Scandinavia, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg—took the first step ten days ago toward formation of the bloc at Stockholm, when it was decided to seek a powerful leader around whom they could gather should a stalemate develop at the economic conference.

Representatives of these states said tonight Mussolini gained prestige by the four-power pact and Il Duce's recent pronouncements led them to believe he would step in—perhaps before the London conference ended.

There was no hint, however, in Finance Minister Guido Jung's speech today that Rome contemplated accepting such responsibilities.

Ten states, it was said, would be sufficient to force others to join a customs union. Opinions of the small nations are so hardy they believe France and Germany eventually would be drawn in.

This scheme, a spokesman declared, would carry far-reaching political consequences, making all roads from small continental nations again lead to Rome.

D. C. Construction Awaits Approval

Highway construction projects, including the building of Calvert Street Bridge and the street improvement items carried in the congressional conference report on the District appropriations bill, were listed yesterday by the District Commissioners for submission to the Budget Bureau as soon as the District bill is signed.

While these jobs are to be financed out of the municipal gasoline tax fund, the District bill specified that they must be approved by the budget director.

Among the street improvement projects are the widening of Thirteenth street from Massachusetts avenue to Logan Circle, and the extension of Michigan avenue to the Soldiers' Home.

Heiress to Marry Naval Lieutenant

Mary Natika Wrenn, Pasadena heiress, announced yesterday in California that she will wed Lieut. Ford Newton Taylor, jr., a naval aviator now stationed at the Anacostia Naval Air Station here, an Associated Press dispatch stated. The marriage, she said, will be this summer.

Two years ago Miss Wrenn eloped to Reno with Edward Henry Groenendyke. She was later granted a divorce from him in Reno charging mental cruelty.

Lieut. Taylor, well known in local aviation circles, has been at the Anacostia Air Station for a year and a half. He graduated from Annapolis in 1926, served two years with the fleet, and then attended the Naval Flying School at Pensacola, Fla., graduating in 1928.

Major Awaits Retirement.

Maj. William A. Pendleton, of South Boston, Va., a Field Artillery officer now at Walter Reed Hospital here, was ordered yesterday to his home to await retirement.

New Victim

Is Added by Short-Change Artist Flashing Large Roll of Bills.

The tall, dark, Spanish-looking man who flim-flammed a teller at the National Capital Bank several weeks ago of more than $100 is still at large and adding to his victims with a suave manner and flashing a large roll of bills.

Charles H. Weckerly, a teller of the Woodridge-Langdon Savings Bank, reported to police yesterday that a man answering the description of the short-change artist had approached him, and flim-flammed him of $130.

The approach at both banks was identical. Four hundred dollars in bills of large denominations was carried by the elusive stranger. Asking for change in $10 bills, he carried on a casual conversation and then asked that a part of the change be still further broken up into smaller bills. When the teller of the bank checked up his accounts, the loss was discovered.

MISS PERKINS URGES CULTURE PAY SCALE

National Catholic School of Social Service Holds Commencement.

The new challenge to industry is to find a way to build up the purchasing power of the American people to balance producing power of our great engineering systems, Secretary of Labor Perkins declared yesterday before the graduating class of the National Catholic School of Social Service.

"Cooperating in the unification of our own country is sure to result, and one of the things which seems to be outstanding in the needs and desires of the American people, as shown particularly by the last two years' experience, is this passion for unity," Miss Perkins said.

She declared this country wants to be united in aims and purposes, and "for the most part it is becoming possible in the hearts of the people everywhere to make those sacrifices which are necessary to make us a truly united people."

Discussing the standard of wages, Miss Perkins said: "The people you and I know who are willing to work when they get a chance certainly want wages that will pay their rent and give them something to eat. To that they are entitled. And they want—and they are entitled to—those opportunities for leisure which will permit them to participate in the whole cultural life of the day. You and I, and those who know their needs and their wants, owe it to them, to ourselves and to the future of this great country which we love, to make it possible for them to share this life."

To the graduates in particular, she said, "You will play a part, an important part in this transition. You are well equipped with the tools of your profession, for I know how well and capably many alumnae of the National Catholic School of Social Service are performing their tasks at this very minute in many parts of the world."

Diplomas were presented to the following students by Dr. Francis J. Haas, director of the school:

Sylvia Batdorf, of Berkeley, Calif.; Gilda Costello, of Puerto Rico; Gwendolyn Gorman, of Salem, Wis.; Mary C. Meade, of Montreal, Wis.; Adelaide Murphy of St. Louis, Mo.; Christine O'Toole, of San Francisco, Calif.; Monserrata Pereyo, of Puerto Rico; Frances Rourke, of Worcester, Mass.; Elizabeth Kehr, of Washington; Sister M. Paulette, Nazareth College, Rochester, N. Y.; Sister Lucile, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Ruth Taylor, of Youngston, Ohio; Ellen Whelan, of Detroit, Mich., and Katherine Trexler, of Kansas City, Mo.

4th of July Body Will Meet Today

Subchairmen of the Citizens Committee of 100, named by the District Commissioners to arrange for the Fourth of July celebration, will meet at 11 a. m. today in the board room of the Franklin School Building, Thirteenth and K streets northwest.

Claude W. Owen, chairman of the group, stated that the meeting was called to push plans for the various phases of the civic commemoration of Independence Day. The Community Center Department and the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks are cooperating with the committee in its work.

Plans for this celebration include a fireworks display at the Monument Grounds. Funds for the display are expected to be secured through the sale of seats.

Cadet Captain Gets Replica of Medal

Soldierly young Philip Lauman, son of Commander Philip G. Lauman, U. S. N., of 3311 Cleveland avenue northwest, who led Company H of Western High School to victory in the annual competitive company cadet drill of Washington high schools last week, yesterday stood before the student body of Western High School and received a replica of the famous Allison Nailor gold medal.

The original medal is awarded each year to the cadet captain of the winning company in the drill. He keeps it for one year and then it goes to the captain of the next winning company. The Washington Chamber of Commerce each year presents a replica of the medal as the permanent possession of the cadet captain.

The presentation was made yesterday by Col. Edward Goring Bliss.

Call on Absentee Voters From 2 States Issued

An appeal to West Virginians and Californians living here to get in touch with the Democratic Central Committee with regard to casting absentee ballots in those States—which vote on the question of prohibition repeal on June 27—was issued last night by the War Veterans Democratic Club.

Residents of the District, Maryland and nearby Virginia were urged to get in touch with the committee at 1320 G street northwest. The announcement applied to residents of all States which have not yet had votes on the repeal question.

stag, who has been active in advising the party here. Herr Frauenfeld, in his protest, demanded cessation of all anti-Nazi raids and release of leaders arrested.

In two new bombings today a fixed-price store was wrecked and a Boy Scout hut headquarters in a suburb demolished. Police sought the perpetrators.

Bombings yesterday and over the week-end resulted in death to two persons and injury to at least five others.

Chancellor Dollfuss' government, which attributed the explosions and other acts of violence to "the brown terror," today issued a decree forbidding government employes from joining the Nazi party.

The decree, however, did not dissolve the party.

Herr Frauenfeld's protest set forth that the Nazis deplored the disturbances as much as anyone.

Meanwhile, in an editorial, Arbeiterzeitung, official organ of the Socialist party, protested against what it called the degeneration of the fight for Austrian democracy into a "mere battle to protect the Jews."

The newspaper stated it holds no brief for the Hitlerites who it said "certainly don't deserve to be handled with gloves." It assailed what it described as the panicky willingness of the so-called lovers of freedom to "support any kind of Fascism so long as it is not anti-Semetic."

It attacked certain sections of the Socialist and Liberal press for demanding martial law and dissolution of the Nazi party and "even restoration of the Hapsburgs."

Vice Chancellor Franz Winkler made public a statement saying that events show the "Austrian Hitler party under the influence of German Nazi circles had abandoned the path of equality and are adopting a method of illegal terrorism."

Senate Confirms Three Administration Names

(United Press.)

The Senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of Frederic H. Taber, of Massachusetts, to be a board member of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; John J. Kennedy, of Biloxi, Miss., to be comptroller of customs at New Orleans, and Herbert J. Drane, of Florida, to be a member of the Federal Power Commission.

The pacemaker stimulates the nerves, which cause heart muscles to expand and contract, by means of tiny electric currents. It is being exhibited here by Dr. Albert S. Hyman of Beth David Hospital.

Mgr. James H. Ryan for his first term as rector in November, 1928. Mgr. Ryan was reappointed for another five-year term on May 20 by special decree from the Pope.

The number of candidates for degrees is the largest in the history of the university, exceeding the previous high figure in 1932 by 72 students. It will also be the largest commencement in the history of the university in the number of guests.

The ceremonies will be carried over the coast-to-coast networks of both the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co.

Candidates for degrees in course will be presented to the chancellor and presiding officer of the exercises, the Most Rev. Michael J. At the conclusion of the events in the gymnasium luncheon will be served to the families and friends of the graduates in the main dining hall, and a special luncheon and reunion of the decennial classes of 1893, 1903, 1913 and 1923 will be served.

R. F. C. IS EXPECTED TO DECIDE ON FERRY

Chesapeake Beach Project Is Seeking Loan of $425,000.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Action on the projected ferry from Chesapeake Beach, Md., across Chesapeake Bay to the Eastern Shore, is expected at the Reconstruction Finance Corporation within the next month, it was announced yesterday.

An application for a loan pending there already has been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the amount of $425,000, which, it is understood, would be sufficient to provide the ferry boats necessary for the service. There would also be required a considerable expenditure for wharves and other terminal facilities, but this outlay would be financed through other resources of the sponsors of the project.

The proposed ferry has been under consideration for several years and has had indorsements from most of the business and civic organizations of Washington, as well as from Eastern Shore business men generally. Traffic counts introduced at hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission when the subject was first broached indicated the need of such a ferry.

Construction has been delayed through legal proceedings incident to the opposition of existing ferry lines, but ultimately the Interstate Commerce Commission allowed a $425,000 loan, a reduction from the $500,000 originally asked.

It is understood that work on the project would be started at once, in the event that the loan is granted, and that employment would be given to a considerable number of men. The ferry would cut the distance from Washington to Eastern Shore points by 26 miles or more and would also reduce the distance to many such points from Baltimore.

Walsh Will Speak At Flag Day Rites

Colorful exercises by patriotic organizations, and an address by Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, will ring down the curtain on Flag Day tonight at the Sylvan Theater.

The exercises will begin at 7:30 p. m. with a concert by the U. S. Marine Band. At 8 p. m., bugles will sound the cue for the entrance of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Sons and Daughters of Veterans. The Rev. Charles T. Warner, D. D., will give the invocation.

J. H. Sheppard, department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, will preside. Percy Parker, of the Grand Army of the Republic, will present the colors to Commander Sheppard.

The oath of allegiance to the flag will be led by Mrs. Cora T. Manoly, patriotic instructor of the Woman's Relief Corps, assisted by Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts.

A toast to the flag, sung by Dorothy Pierson and a band selection of patriotic airs by the United States Marine Band, will precede the address of Senator Walsh.

After Senator Walsh's address, Marie C. Deale will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner." The solute to the colors will follow, given by units and color guards of soldiers, sailors and marines. Chaplain William Dorsey, of the Grand Army of the Republic, will give the benediction.

New York-Haiti Fliers At Goal Following Delay

Port au Prince, Haiti, June 13 (A. P.).—Dirty, tired and sleepless, Capt. J. Errol Boyd and two companions arrived here today from St. Marc, Haiti, where they were forced down last night by motor trouble, on their long overseas hop from New York.

Port au Prince was their goal in a scheduled nonstop flight of 2,471 miles. With Boyd were Robert G. Lyon, his copilot, and H. P. Davis, author-observer.

VETERAN DEADLOCK DELAYS CONGRESS

(Democrat), Alabama, to recommit the partial conference report. Senator Black protested vigorously that the Senate conferees had receded on that portion of the bill which would have reopened Government hospitals to veterans suffering nonservice disabilities.

By this parliamentary device, the Democratic leaders avoided a direct roll call on rejection or approval of the President's compromise substitute for the Connally amendment.

The line-up on the Black motion, however, revealed the Senate in a sullen mood.

Immediately following announcement of the tally, Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, moved a recess until 11 o'clock this morning. A few minutes later, the House, which had been standing by practically all day, also recessed.

The roll call on the Black motion showed only 30 Democrats and 1 Republican supporting the administration maneuver, while 20 Democrats, 27 Republicans and the lone Farmer-Laborite voted to force the showdown. The practical effect of the motion to recommit was to assure later a direct vote on the President's substitute plan, already accepted by the House.

President Roosevelt still is planning to begin a three-week vacation tomorrow evening. This fact has intensified the efforts of White House spokesmen in the Senate to work out a solution of the veteran tangle. They expressed confidence last night that a personal appeal from the President today might clear the way for adjournment tonight.

Acceptance of the conference report in both houses on the independent offices bill and on the gigantic public works appropriation are the only major legislative matters still awaiting final action. When these reports are agreed upon, the Executive orders covering consolidations may be disposed of in an hour or two.

A presidential veto of the independent offices bill would leave some 40 Federal agencies without funds after July 1. There is under tentative consideration a proposal to extend all 1933 appropriations through 1934. This could be accomplished quickly by a joint resolution of both houses. Under this plan, the President would retain authority to carry out the veterans economy program promulgated last March. At the same time, members of the House and Senate who are facing election campaigns next year would be securely on record in favor of increased pensions.

But this tentative plan of legislative indirection and evasion involves so many parliamentary steps that adjournment today would be practically impossible.

There is no doubt that a presidential veto of the independent offices supply bill would be sustained in both houses. Nevertheless, administration leaders in the Senate would prefer a legislative agreement on veteran

PRESIDENT CONFERS ON REVIVAL PLANS

Cabinet Members Discuss Schemes, Even Before Bill Is Signed.

(Associated Press.)

President Roosevelt last night summoned an extraordinary meeting of Cabinet officials who will direct the vast potentialities of the newly enacted industrial revival-public works bill, discussing with them even before the big bill was signed details of how to put a million or more men to work as speedily as possible.

As a group of Cabinet officials, accompanied by Gen. Hugh Johnson, who will direct the work, left the Executive Mansion around midnight after a lengthy talk it was learned that a month has been set as the goal for pushing the broad campaign to put millions to work and to establish minimum wages and working hours with labor in the gigantic recovery movement.

The special Cabinet committee which will supervise the program includes Secretaries Roper, Ickes, Wallace, and Perkins, all of whom were present last night except the Commerce Secretary, who was delayed by a previous engagement.

It was learned that Gen. Johnson, who has been setting up his organization for more than two weeks, outlined his ideas to the President and his advisers.

Formal announcement of the Chief Executive's plans is expected today or tomorrow simultaneously with his signing of the measure he intends to make the king pin of his drive to bring about better times.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED BY 3 HIGH SCHOOLS

Gaithersburg, Poolesville and Takoma-Silver Spring Graduations Held.

Graduation exercises were held in three senior high schools and a junior high school of Montgomery County, Md., last night. The senior highs were Takoma-Silver Spring, Gaithersburg and Poolesville. The junior high was Bethesda-Chevy Chase.

Dr. George L. Edmonds, of the county board of education, addressed the graduates and presented the diplomas at Takoma-Silver Spring High School. Katherine Block was salutatorian and Evelyn Crown, valedictorian. Awards and honors were presented by Principal E. M. Douglas.

The good citizenship medal of the Sons of the American Revolution was awarded to Harold Brown, with honorable mention to John Mygatt and Bernard Graeves. The Herbert C. Fooks award for creative ability in art was won by Fern Royall.

At Poolesville High the diplomas were presented by George W. Davis, jr., of the board of education. The valedictory was by Marie Keesee and the salutatory by Virginia Dodd. Citizenship medals were won by William Daniel, Edgar Grubb and Marie Keesee, while scholarship medals, given by the Poolesville Community League, were presented by Miss Marguerita Myerly, president, to Miss Keesee and Miss Dodd.

At Gaithersburg High School, the presentation of diplomas was by William H. McCeney of the school board and presentation of honors and awards by Thomas W. Troxell, principal of the school.

The Bethesda-Chevy Chase Junior High School exercises departed from the usual. The entire program was presented in the form of a two-act play written by members of the graduating class and entitled "Education for Living." The play, given under the direction of Mrs. Mary B. Mohler, opened in the office of the school principal, Thomas W. Pyle, two weeks before close of school. Pyle challenged Kirk Dickson, class president; Neale Harper, Jane Dunbar and Barbara Althaus to show what the students have gained from their studies that will help them in their lives. The second act shows members of the class presenting the evidence to a committee of educators. The evidence was presented by the following students:

ALEXANDRIA COUNCIL GETS BEER PETITION

Chamber of Commerce Asks Repeal of Ordinance Covering Sale.

The Alexandria City Council last night received a request from the Chamber of Commerce and a petition signed by a number of business men to repeal the city ordinance governing the sale of beer, and a letter from the Woman's Christian Temperance Union protesting against the repeal of the ordinance.

Councilman Barley raised a point of order against the request, stating that while he is in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment, he did not favor the repeal of the city dry ordinance. Gov. Pollard, he said, would undoubtedly have State police camp in Alexandria and raid every place suspected of selling beer. He said the city council has no authority to legalize the sale of beer.

Later in the meeting Judge Barley proposed a resolution calling upon the city manager to investigate the cost of maintaining prisoners in the city jail, convicted of dry law violations. If the cost of maintenance is greater than the sum derived from fines, the city would leave the problem of dry enforcement to the State, which would, in that event receive the fines and support the prisoners who were sent to jail in lieu of paying a fine.

Zoning Requests Approved.

Three requests for rezoning were presented and decided favorably, the first being the square bounded by Madison, Montgomery, Pitt and Royal streets; the second a portion of the square at the intersection of the west side of Fairfax street with the south side of Oronoco street, and the third the north side of Bellefont avenue, beginning 75 feet west of DeWitt avenue and running west 200 feet, on which Raymond, Inc., desired to erect two eight-family apartment houses. The latter proposal was opposed by the Sixth Ward Citizens Association, but later an agreement between the association and Mr. Raymond was reached, and the council agreed to rezone the section from residential "A" to residential "B."

A proposal previously submitted, to remit the penalty and interest on delinquent taxes to encourage their payment, was defeated and a resolution offered by Councilman Davison adopted, providing that the city collector be instructed to advertise in a newspaper, at least twice a week, the fact that, in the week of July 10, the delinquent tax list would be published in two issues, the list to include all delinquent taxes on real estate up to and including 1932 taxes.

Fireworks Law Adopted.

The usual annual fireworks ordinance was adopted, providing for the sale of approved fireworks on July 1, 3 and 4, and authorizing their discharge only on July 4. The resolution prohibits the discharge of fireworks on Washington or King streets, and on Duke street between Washington and Columbus streets.

The council appropriated $330 toward the expenses of transporting the Citizens Band to the State Firemen's convention in Harrisonburg.

A resolution to appropriate $9,500 for a sewer on Russell road from Mount Ida avenue to Four Mile Run was held over under the rules, as was a communication from A. P. Clarke, jr., relative to sewer facilities in Mount Ida, which project is dependent upon the Russell road sewer.

Councilman Davison was appointed to investigate the possibility of acquiring the Hume estate for use as a public park, as proposed by the Sixth Ward Citizens Association.

RICHMOND GREYHOUND

The Federal Diary

TWO employes in Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Victor Sadd and Robert T. Williams, have compiled a study of bankruptcy cases published recently and presenting some interesting facts. The study includes 870 commercial bankruptcies in Boston. Here are some conclusions drawn by Messrs Sadd and Williams concerning causes of commercial bankruptcy:

Inefficient management, business depression, insufficient capital, bad debt losses, competition, adverse domestic and personal factors, dishonesty and fraud, decline in value of assets, excessive overhead and inefficient and dishonest employes.

"The majority of bankruptcies are preventable," say the authors. "Practically every cause of bankruptcy can be attributed to the direct and controllable action of debtors and creditors. Bankruptcies of wage earners (i. e., consumers) have increased in number 414 per cent during the period 1920-1930, as compared with a population increase of 16 per cent." Data on 266 consumer bankrupcies reveals the following causes, which are presented in the order of their most frequent occurrence:

Extravagance, evasion of judgment debts, avoidance of liabilities on foreclosed real estate, decreased income, domestic misfortunes, speculation in stocks and real estate, business involvements and dishonesty.

AND since there are smiles in many serious subjects, bankruptcy cases likewise have their smiles. One case of a $40-a-week salesman revealed the purchase of two baby grand pianos, three fur coats and other items totaling $4,894.

Another case: A $35-a-week department store saleswoman found she had bought too many clothes on credit. At the hearing a creditor was asked why he sold her $120 worth of shoes on credit. He replied that "she was so good looking and had such an honest face that he thought she would pay, and so made no investigation of her ability to pay." "Liabilities, $2,163; no assets. A case of "Just bring an honest face."

An oil burner salesman married under the impression that his wife was "very wealthy." She wasn't. She, in turn, believed he had substantial means. He didn't. Imagine their embarrassment, or rather their creditors', after they ran up charge accounts to $16,035. Assets listed at $11,241 brought only $250 at sale.

"PRIOR to 1931 wastebaskets in many homes were full to overflowing," says the volume titled 'Causes of Bankruptcies Among Consumers,' with invitations to use charge accounts, many stores even going to the length of announcing 'We have taken the liberty of opening an account in your name,' and asking Mr. and Mrs. Prospect to come in and make immediate use of a charge account. There is little reason to wonder that people overbuy. The general opinion still prevails that credit is too easy. * * * * The psychological tendency of the prospective purchaser is often to feel wealthier than he really is at the time of making purchases. * * *

"One outstanding fact noted in recent years is the increasing number of people who buy carelessly satisfying every present whim, without regard to the relationship of the obligation of their incomes and needs. These people, whatever their original intent, come to regard the debts more lightly as the debts become more burdensome. * * *

"The number of bankruptcies in Pennsylvania and North Carolina has always been comparatively low. Where wages can be attached readily, as in Alabama and Tennessee, bankruptcies are more frequent. The exhorbitant rates of interest charged by illegal lenders in States where the uniform small loan law has not been passed may be a contributing cause of bankruptcy in those States."

OUR FLAG.

BORN under stress of circumstances which led to one of the most important events in the history of the world. Thirteen, considered significant in the purview of luck, was my foundation, but has been no bar to my subsequent success. Forty-eight offsprings, turbulent and unruly sometimes, but in time of actual necessity all of them are willing to hover under the folds of my banner looking for protection and lending help for the good of all. I cover all parts of the earth for the protection of the rights of my children and have never been hoisted over a country for the subjection of a people nor unfurled over a strange land except for its betterment.

Rich in beauty and sentiment, Red for the warm blood of welcome and hospitality; blue the color of heaven's vault, with a purpose as high, even though it may sometimes be clouded with current difficulties, and white the symbol of purity and sincerity—red, white and blue. Forty-eight stars and thirteen bars, a combination which never yet has been defeated, and, with the help of God, never will be. CHARLES J. SIMPSON.

THE following is from the magazine Topics, published in Chicago:

"Friend H. J. Frank, the dignified president of Potomac Council, read an interesting article on the subject of 'We Love the Depression;' after the usual applause, the members forgot all about the depression and pledged to go out after some new applications.

"Potomac Council has a lively bunch of good fellows; it is difficult to single out any particular member as outstanding in his interest in the council, but the writer, in his frequent visits to this council, has observed for some time one member, that is Friend W. D. Clark, the 'Beau Brummel' of Potomac Council. He is a fine parliamentarian and keeps the members on toes in observing 'Roberts Rules,' consequently meetings are conducted in a praiseworthy manner and it is a pleasure to visitors who are present at every meeting."

Henry J. Frank is in the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and William D. Clark, treasurer of Potomac Council, is section chief Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

To W. S. Berkshire (*), former El Paso district attorney: Welcome to Washington.

Mr. Berkshire has become junior legal adviser to the Undersecretary of the Treasury. His family probably will come to the city before long.

In noting the arrival of Mr. Berkshire to Washington we must confess this information came several thousands miles special to the Federal Diary. First the news arrived in Los Angeles from El Paso. Then in a personal letter the Federal Diary was informed from Los Angeles. The conductor of this column had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Berkshire's father-in-law in El Paso last fall.

Mr. Berkshire, the Federal Diary again extends greetings.

Fred Deckner, Census, got so excited one time while pulling in one of his 20 hardheads, they say, that he threw one back into the water. But life's like that. Most of the boys in the party at Point No Point Lighthouse, at Point Lookout, Saturday afternoon and evening were from Census Bureau. Sixty-eight hardheads, one cat and one perch went the way of all fish that flirt with hooks.

Capt. Bob Drury piloted H. L. McCabe, Roy Stewart, O. T. Briggs, B. B. Barrett, John Petar, Charlie Kenny, Fred Deckner and "Shorty" Moye over the fishing grounds.

BAKER ADMITS TAX RETURN OMISSIONS

Former National City Head, Like Mitchell, Failed to Report on Fund.

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Hugh B. Baker, former president of the National City Co., said today that like Charles E. Mitchell, in whose defense he testified in Federal court, he did not include in his 1929 income tax return his share of the company's $1,860,000 management fund, which was divided among 11 officials.

Mitchell's failure to include his portion, $266,666.67, is the basis of one of the charges of income tax evasion on which he is being tried. The prosecution contends he defrauded the Government by omitting the bonus.

Baker took the stand after Defense Counsel Max D. Steuer altered his plans because Joseph P. Read, of Chicago, Mrs. Mitchell's brother, was ill with heart disease and unable to continue his testimony. Read was reported much improved and probably can appear tomorrow.

Baker's statement that he did not include his share of $320,000 was prefaced by testimony from Harry F. Mayer, a vice president of the management company, that the management fund was to be considered an advance, rather than income.

IDLE PH. D.'S URGED TO WORK IN FORESTS

Johns Hopkins Head Tells Degree Men to Take First Job Offered.

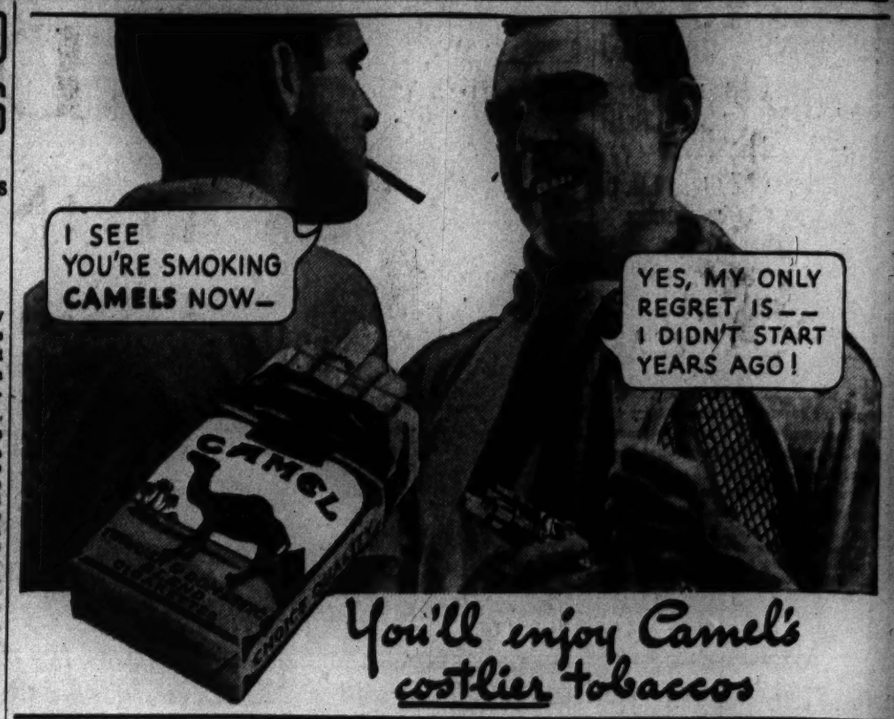

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., June 13.—Newly made doctors of philosophy who have not obtained positions were advised to go to the Government reforestation camps by Dr. Joseph S. Ames, president of the Johns Hopkins University, in his commencement day address here today. "In any case, idleness should not be tolerated," said the speaker. "It is extremely probable that the number among you who will be able to enter upon life along the path for which you are best prepared is very few. The main thing is that a man should not be idle, and secondly, that he should be able to earn enough to keep himself alive. Specifically, my advice to you is to take the first opportunity offered you and, if none is offered, do not rest till you find one."

The president's address was part of the exercises at the fifty-eighth commencement, which also included the conferring of degrees upon 75 candidates for the Ph. D., 72 for the M. D., 8 for the M. A. and 98 for the B. A.

Late Night Air-conditioned Train West

INDIANAPOLIS • CINCINNATI • LEXINGTON • LOUISVILLE

THE F. F. V. leaves 10:35 p.m.

The general air-conditioning and re-scheduling of all thru trains on the Chesapeake and Ohio provide another highest class travel service to the West. The historic F. F. V. becomes a fit companion for The George Washington, providing a late night departure for the West with all the innovations of luxury and comfort which made that train, in one short year, the talk of the railroad world and traveling public.

Many who have found it difficult to get away on The George Washington at 6:01 P.M. have wanted a comparable service at a later hour. The same cool, clean comfort you may now have on The F. F. V. It carries thru air-conditioned cars to White Sulphur, Hot Springs, Charleston, Huntington, Lexington, Louisville, Cincinnati and Indianapolis. Immediate connection at the latter city for Chicago, arriving at 8:50 P.M.—in plenty of time for comfortable connection with all the good trains West.

The Sportsman, leaving at 11:55 A.M., gives air-conditioned daylight service to Virginia and West Virginia points thru some of the grandest scenery in the world.

Now all thru trains are newly equipped and air-conditioned, and Chesapeake and Ohio proudly boasts The Finest Fleet of Trains in the World.

It's always Springtime on the C and O.

TARES AMONG THE WHEAT.

It is not difficult to understand why Congress, revived and passed the Glass banking bill at the eleventh hour before adjournment. Members of both houses suddenly began to realize that this vital problem of banking reform ought not to be postponed for another year. Failure to enact a comprehensive banking law would have been strange indeed in view of the crisis last March. A majority concluded that it would be better to accept a compromise measure than to take no action at all.

The bill as finally shaped by the conference committee is a strange mixture of constructive features and questionable palliatives. Its chief political strength in Congress arose from the two provisions for insurance of deposits, but the economic strength of the measure lies entirely outside of these provisions. Senators urged adoption of the temporary insurance scheme on the ground that it is necessary to restore confidence in the banks and thus make credit expansion practicable. Yet this section will not take effect until next January and then it will remain in operation for only six months. Politics certainly superseded sound banking in this venture.

The permanent insurance plan will take effect on July 1, 1934. Deposits up to $10,000 will be guaranteed 100 per cent. Larger deposits will be only partially insured. Only one aspect of this plan deserves commendation. It may be an important step toward the unification of the banking system under Federal control. No member bank will be insured without the approval of the insurance corporation, which means that weak banks will have to consolidate, secure new capital or go out of business. After 1936 no bank will be allowed to benefit from the insurance pool unless it is a member of the Federal Reserve system. This will be a strong inducement for banks to meet the requirements of Federal Reserve membership and will make it virtually impossible for banks not subject to these regulations to continue in operation.

In spite of this fact, the insurance feature must be regarded with suspicion. It puts a premium on careless and unsound banking on the part of institutions that obtain insurance and penalizes the conservative banks. It seeks to distribute the losses resulting from bad banking instead of eliminating inefficient and dishonest bankers. It is true, of course, that the Glass bill provides for more strict supervision of Federal institutions, that it permits a limited extension of branch banking, divorces security affiliates from commercial banks and throws other safeguards around the banking business. But if improvements in these directions went far enough there would be no need for the insurance of deposits. In spite of its many commendable features, the Glass bill is long on the insurance of unsound banking and short on establishment of regulations that would make each bank a guarantor of its own solvency.

STABILIZATION OF MONEY.

Monetary stabilization is the first problem with which the World Economic Conference is concerning itself. An effort is being made to secure temporary stabilization during the life of the conference, or until the nations can return to the gold standard. France and other gold standard countries are not inclined to go forward with any other program, as Premier Daladier said, so long as "the measure of values is dependent upon caprice or change."

Strange as it may seem, the United States appears to be holding out against definite stabilization. The administration has embarked upon a policy of debasing the dollar, and there seems to be fear in Washington that the establishment of a ratio between the dollar and European currencies might arrest the rising prices in this country. Until this policy has been sufficiently modified to permit reasonable stabilization, progress at the international conference will be most difficult.

No doubt the American delegation expects to use depreciation of the dollar as a means of securing concessions in other fields. But it is a dangerous weapon. At present France is pleading with the American delegation to arrest the fall of the dollar and to establish a tentative ratio with the franc and the pound. But if France should be driven off the gold standard, she would doubtless be just as adept at debasing her currency as is the United States. A race among the major nations to depreciate their currencies in an effort to gain trade advantages would lead to world-wide disaster.

This risk of precipitating a monetary war must be taken into consideration along with the idea of debasing the dollar to raise domestic prices and the hope of securing foreign concessions for a stabilization agreement. The temporary benefits that may accrue from rising prices due to monetary debasement must also be weighed against the disadvantages of world-wide monetary chaos. So long as the value of money is violently fluctuating in terms of gold or foreign currency, the adjustment of other economic relations is impossible.

It appears that the United States has nothing to lose and a good deal to gain by stabilizing the dollar at a reasonable ratio to other currencies. An agreement on this subject now does not need to be permanent. It would not involve an immediate return to the gold standard. But it would establish a reasonable degree of financial stability as the first step toward consummating the work of the conference.

CROPS AND BENEFITS.

Farmers have become extremely restless because the agricultural relief act has not yet been put into operation. Pressure is being applied to the Department of Agriculture and the administrative officials, in spite of the recent improvement in farm prices. The farmers are not inclined to worry about the administrative difficulties that have been encountered. They want the benefits of the act to be made available without further delay, even though most of this year's crops are in the ground.

Secretary Wallace and his associates in this venture have pondered over the situation for several weeks. If the farm act had been passed early in the year, it could have been initiated with little difficulty. But how can acreage curtailment be accomplished when crops are already planted? And how could the payment of benefits be justified when farmers have not been required to reduce their crops to avoid the production of surpluses? The way in which the administrators of the farm relief act answer these questions may seal the fate of the domestic allotment plan.

The late Farm Board advised the destruction of surplus crops last year when all other methods then available had failed to arrest the fall of agricultural prices. But the suggestion that every third row of cotton be plowed under met with vigorous protest. Farmers considered the advice outrageous and the public thought it was carrying the acreage curtailment to ridiculous extremes. The suggestion went unheeded. It merely accentuated the unpopularity of the Farm Board.

The administrators of the domestic allotment plan are now confronted with a problem which is similar to that faced by the Farm Board last year. Crops are already growing. Nature has been kind enough to reduce the probable yield of wheat and some other staples. But if further reductions are to be made, some destruction of crops will be necessary. Farmers are now asking the Government to rent some of their land on which crops are growing. If the Government should decide upon such a course it would be faced with the necessity of destroying crops on the rented land or accumulating additional surpluses.

A policy of this kind might become extremely embarrassing. Processing taxes would be laid upon the consuming public to pay for the destruction of crops. At the same time the Government would be spending millions of dollars for foodstuffs and clothing for the unemployed. Taxpayers would doubtless conclude that the Government was heaping their burden too high.

No doubt the administrators of the farm bill have taken these difficulties into consideration. They realize from the experience of the Farm Board that the payment of benefits without reduction of acreage leads to disaster. In spite of the farm clamor the administrators may decide that suspension of the domestic allotment plan until next spring is the only sound policy to pursue.

WHENCE SUMMER HEAT?

Torrid spells of weather and winter blizzards are alike prone to develop many amateur prophets, leaving the rest of the adult population to tell of how the climate has changed since their childhood days. As a rule the seers are mistaken in their prognostications no less frequently than the reminiscent ones are at fault in their historical facts. Mopping the fevered brow today, it is difficult to believe it was as hot as this last year, or that hot days ever appeared so early.

Where does hot weather come from so quickly? Except upon the unvarying expanses of the desert the sun can not be blamed for the radical changes which occur from day to day. The widespread hot spell which the country has been experiencing recently is caused by great waves of heated air that have spread northward from the Gulf of Mexico and the southern States. The temperature of this region comes not only from the sun's rays, but through heat generated by compression as the air from higher altitudes pours down upon the earth in great invisible cataracts.

Many contradictions confuse the layman who tries to understand the weather. Although we are entering a period of increasing sun spots, these dark blotches do not mean less radiation, for the earth receives more heat from the sun when such phenomena appear than at other times. But likewise increased solar heat does not necessarily mean hotter weather, for it increases atmospheric movements and more cool air may flow down from the arctic regions. Furthermore, the influence of sun spots is not only disputed, but their reputed effects upon our atmosphere are supposed to be delayed for several years.

Harking back to the conditions supposed to influence this summer, a period of decreasing solar heat is found which permits the unwelcome conjecture that we are not going to have many cooling atmospheric deluges from the north and will have more hot spells.

FOR A PETROLEUM CODE.

Indicative of the prompt efforts of industry to be prepared to cooperate promptly with Government plans for effective regulation is the call for a meeting of petroleum producers this week in Chicago. The conference will try to evolve a code of practices for the oil industry. Twenty-four producer organizations have been invited to attend by the American Petroleum Institute.

The oil marketing associations will likewise meet to perfect the code for their branch of this widely ramified business. While the producing organizations represent twelve States, the marketers are, of course, nation wide, and equally representative groups are assured for their meetings, which will be of a more sectional character. Marketers of the Atlantic coast regions, including New England, will assemble in New York on June 20. The oil industry has long felt that it could in large measure remedy the evils of ruinous competition and unbridled production if the stringent provisions of the anti-trust law were relaxed to permit of internal agreements. The best brains of the business will now have opportunity to demonstrate that codes can be devised for self-regulation which will avoid the necessity of more direct Government intervention and supervision.

The oil industry feels that, in conjunction with the motorists, it is being hard hit by the proposed impositions of the industrial recovery act, which places an additional half cent tax on gasoline. It is figured that of the $3,300,000,000 fund created the gasoline tax will repay in the long run no less than $1,068,765,000. The directly compensatory expenditure under the bill is the $400,000,000 that will be devoted to road work. The half cent gasoline tax will cost American motorists over $70,000,000 a year.

FEW COLLEGE PACIFISTS.

The recent episodes at the College of the City of New York and Amherst in which a few young academic reds made sensational display of their radical leanings, and the general university poll purporting to show a large percentage of students opposed to military service, have given rise to many unjustified deductions regarding the sentiments of college youth. The pacifist poll has been widely advertised as showing, through a nation-wide vote taken in colleges and universities, that 40 per cent of the students had pledged themselves against doing military service for the nation in either offensive or defensive war.

This result may be correctly reported in so far as it relates to the percentage in the votes returned to the pacifist organization which conducted the poll, but no prominence is given to the fact that the total votes returned represent only about 10 per cent of the students in the institutions where ballots were cast. Therefore, the pacifist 40 per cent represents only about 4 per cent of the total student body. This was the case in connection with Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Chicago and Boston Universities, in which 44,345 students were entitled to vote and only 4,285 were sufficiently interested, or convinced of the impartiality of the balloting, to cast votes. Of this number but 1,114 were recorded as outright pacifists.

In the vote in Boston University not a single pacifist ballot came from the College of Arts and Sciences, and of the 132 confirmed non-fighters, 126 were in the Theological School. In the ten leading women's colleges about 19 per cent of the total enrollment, or 1,607 out of 8,501, were avowed pacifists. The total vote was 3,377. A fourth of the girls were ready to enlist in any war for any kind of service. The result of the votes probably reflects the full strength of the pacifist spirit. The militant pacifists voted in force, and the overwhelming majority of the students may justly be considered sound patriots. A pacifist minority among ten per cent of the college students is not dangerous.

That issue of bonds without any promise to pay in gold went over so well that Uncle Sam might try a batch without any promise of repayment.

OLD AND NEW SKILL

From the Knickerbocker Press.

Progress like everything else, no doubt, is only relative, and it may be that the artisans and philosophers of ancient times would be unimpressed by the scientific miracles on exhibition at the Chicago World Fair. Our engineers can hook up the electric energy of a distant star to floodlight a city, but who among them can make a Grecian urn? They can create buildings that almost rival Mount Olympus in size and grandeur, but can they reproduce the grace and beauty of the Acropolis? They can trace words in the sky, but can they write like Shakespeare? Perhaps even our early Indians would ask what all the boasting is for, so long as no one in Chicago knows how to make a real birch bark canoe.

None the less, if all the cultures in the history of the world could be exhibited, epoch by epoch, each one staging a display of its own particular contribution to the progress of the race, we are confident the exhibition at Chicago, summarizing the scientific history of the last hundred years, would eclipse all the rest. Our moderns have lost the delicate skill with their hands which produced the unique beauty of ancient pottery, rugs, sculpture, architecture and all the rest; they do not write poetry as they did in Queen Elizabeth's time; they have lost some of the secret arts of carving and gold beating; they are out of contact with many of the tricks of woodcraft taught only by nature.

But who is there, even though he be a prince of cynics, that can deny the overwhelming splendor of the present century? Who can fail to thrill at the indescribable achievements of our own particular civilization—the civilization which belongs peculiarly to the people of the United States? Our mechanical geniuses in these last hundred years have at least done what they have done by sheer power of brain, by slow addition of one bit of knowledge to another, by using to the full the energy of the human mind. We would have no hesitation in stacking their achievements against anything produced in all the past history of the race.

Business used to heave a sigh of relief when Congress left the Capitol; now it will hold its breath and watch the White House.

That creaking sound from London is the conference machinery trying to overcome the debt monkey wrench Mr. MacDonald dropped in it at the very outset.

Federal employes shouldn't worry too soon; the new programs will need more hired help than can be fired.

Those raided speakeasies will probably get off light, as they were not caught selling any legal beer.

It's rubbing it in a bit when the only kind words at London for the United States, so far, come from Japan.

If Mother England drops a drawn work dime in Uncle Sam's cash register it will be a token of good will for him and a warning to her debtors.

Don't give up hope for the London conference; the Hocking Valley coal miners and operators have agreed on a wage scale.

The international brain trust meeting in the London geological museum must demonstrate that they are not properly housed as old fossils.

The big advertising corps assembled to sell the recovery plans to the country is getting impatient for Congress to deliver the goods.

Col. Howe's assertion that Home Loan bonds, on which the Government will only guarantee interest, are as good as Treasury issues does appear open to discussion.

FLAG DAY.

Flag, inspire us as of old,
Strengthen us and make us bold.
Hearten us our tasks to bear
Till is friendship everywhere.
Hold us fast, till bickerings cease
And all nations dwell in peace.

Grand Old Glory, lead us on
Till from earth is hatred gone;
Urge us forward to the day
Men shall find the better way,
And all children of the earth
Shall be grateful for their birth.

Flag of freedom, whisper down
To the workers of the town,
To the farmers of the land
Words which they can understand;
Tell them if they falter not,
Earth shall be a happier spot.

Shining red and white and blue,
Faith and hope in us renew!
Though the skies are now o'ercast,
Hold us in thy service fast,
Bid us constant to remain
Until world-wide peace shall reign.

From Friendly Neighbors

The following editorial comment on the purchase of The Washington Post by Eugene Meyer was published yesterday by two "friendly neighbors," the Evening Star and the New York Evening Post:

(From the Evening Star.)

The New Publisher of The Post.

Washington welcomes Eugene Meyer as publisher of The Washington Post, the purchase of which by him was effected recently and is now formally announced. Mr. Meyer has been an official resident of Washington for the greater part of sixteen years, coming here in 1917 as a member of the Council of National Defense during the war. He served afterward on the War Industries Board, the National Committee on War Savings, the War Finance Corporation, the Federal Farm Loan Board, and finally, from which position he only recently retired, as governor of the Federal Reserve Board. In these various services he became widely acquainted and highly respected at the Capital. He has become so closely identified with official life in Washington that in his new relationship as a newspaper publisher he will be regarded as a Washingtonian, with the interests of the local community at heart. The Star is pleased that The Post, second oldest of the newspapers of the District, should be now under the direction of so broadminded, capable and public-spirited a man, and extends its congratulations to him and to the public he will serve in this new capacity.

(From the New York Evening Post.)

The Washington Post.

There should be real rejoicing that so famous a journalistic property as that of The Washington Post has fallen into sound ownership like that of Mr. Eugene Meyer. Newspapers in the Nation's Capital have a peculiar influence and position. * * *

Anyhow, it is evident that the editorship of important papers at the Capital is of national concern. Therefore, we repeat our assertion that there should be real rejoicing because Mr. Meyer has taken over The Post. He is a man of the broadest training in public and in private financial life. His was one of the few most powerful voices in the financial policies of the Hoover administration. It seems to us that the costly and unfair system of American politics has cut him out too quickly, too completely and too unreservedly from connection with the Federal Reserve system, about which he knows more than any man living. We are glad to have him back in "public" life. Mr. Meyers says that in his new capacity he is going to seek to serve the people of Washington both fairly and independently. We believe he will do so. And we certainly wish him all success.

There Are No Bullies in a Camp Where No Weakling Offers Temptation.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN a prize fighter observes that his adversary is almost spent, he forgets his own weariness and his hurts. The sight of weakness is a stimulant that multiplies his fury and his strength.

In Germany some weeks ago, Nazi young men drunk with power began to persecute a helpless minority. Their number insured safety. Immune to punishment, knowing they could strike without fear of a blow in return, armed against the unarmed, they forgot the rules of mercy and fair play and raged in undisciplined brutality. The weakness of their victims aroused them to fury.

Weeks later a Nazi representative came to America. And now the situation was reversed, for he was a helpless stranger in a land that scorned and resented the practices of his government.

Here, then, was opportunity for American partizans of the oppressed to show how the strong should treat the weak—to give an example of fair play and magnanimous tolerance.

You know what happened. A crowd waited at the dock to greet the stranger with jeers and insulting banners. And when their prey escaped by landing at another pier, their pent-up fury found relief in rioting.

A regiment with fixed bayonets or a squad with a machine gun could have calmed their spirits. But they were more than a thousand and there were only fifty policemen in sight. Moreover, they knew that policemen will endure much before shooting.

The sight of so much weakness was too much for them. They had the advantage and felt safe. They began to throw rocks and bottles, and one policeman suffered a broken arm before his fellow officers drew their pistols. That was the end. Guns drawn and leveled meant strength. Fury died with the disappearance of the weakness that invited it.

In the jungle there are animals that never attack one another. They are too evenly matched. Neither is weak enough to invite attack.

Men and nations obey the same rule. They respect strength. But the sight of weakness is more than they can bear. It prompts them to loot, to swindle, to steal, to bully and persecute. All their fine rules are forgotten in the presence of weakness.

That is the truth on which we must base our hope of peace and security. The one fault always fatal is weakness. To permit others to grow stronger than ourselves is to tempt them beyond their power to resist. The wolf wouldn't be a killer if sheep were as strong as lions.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ELMER TWITCHELL WRITES FOR HIS BUSINESS LICENSE.

Dear Uncle Sam: I am taking my pen in hand, as an old-time business man, to write and ask when all this industrial control starts and just what will be my share. What my business needs is not control so much as a good strong day and night nurse, but since you've decided on controlling it, I yield to your judgment.

* * * *

I was raised in the old traditions of American business and am pretty dazed by this idea of having the Government around the store telling me what I ought to pay the help, how much I should get for my goods and whether it would be okay for me to marry my stenographer.

* * * *

When do you come in with me, and do you want a desk in my office or an office of your own? And will you bring your own cigars? Will you want an electric fan, and if so, do I pay for it or does the Government? And which one of us will be supposed to get in first in the morning?

* * * *

Also, with regard to this licensing feature of the new deal, could you fix it so I could get a low number?

* * * *

You know how important a low number is on a license plate, Sam. It helps get a fellow by the authorities in the pinches and it looks important. If I could get a low number like 5 or 7 it would give me a lot of prestige, especially if my nearest competitor, Jake Shaffer down the street, got a number like D6,742,467X or something like that.

* * * *

And what do I have to do to get a business license? Is there any physical examination or driver's test? I have been operating a small business for many years and never had a major accident until the fall of 1929 when I got to speeding so fast that I, in common with all other business men, ignored all the "Go Slow," Sharp Curve Ahead" signs and went into the ditch.

* * * *

Looking back on it, I suppose I was guilty of reckless driving, but it didn't seem so at the time. Everybody else was breaking all the speed laws, too, and I remember very well seeing hundreds of supposedly well-balanced conservative merchants turning corners on two wheels and driving hell bent through the stop lights. But when the crash came we were all punished enough, and I hope you won't insist that we all go out and take new driving tests before we can get an operator's license.

* * * *

Let me know about this point as soon as you can, and please send me all the other dope so I will know how I am to be controlled and when. There's a fellow down the street who wants to buy me out. He don't seem any too smart, and if this control seems too tough I'll let him have it while there's still something left to control. Yours apprehensively.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Bishop Freeman's Timely Rebuke to Defeatism and Political Apostasy.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Noteworthy in voicing the sentiment of a substantial element of the American people was the baccalaureate sermon of the Right Rev. James E. Freeman before the graduates of George Washington University, as reported in The Post, June 5. It was in answer to a recent pessimistic discourse of Secretary of the Interior Ickes, in which he informed the graduates of Washington and Jefferson University that "men of my generation have made a mess of things."

Bishop Freemand said: "Admitting the 'mess,' admitting the confusion, admitting the disorder in our economic life with the break-up of great institutions and consequent unemployment and impoverishment, yet still I submit that you are the inheritors of a set of traditions, of ideals, worthy of the highest endeavor, and to which you are bound to address yourselves zealously and loyally in the days that are before you."

In the course of my life I have now and then heard and read things of which I would have liked to be the author, and that is so in regard to the foregoing eloquent words. Reminders of that sort are needed in the present crisis as a rebuke to those faint-hearted leaders who, to judge by some of their proposed governmental makeshifts, seem to have lost sight if they ever were aware of the fact that we are the "inheritors of a body of traditions" of which we should all be proud.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT will receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the graduation exercises at the Catholic University of America, to be broadcast over WRC and WJSV at 11 o'clock this morning. The Chief Executive is expected to speak briefly in accepting the honor. Rev. James H. Ryan, rector of the University, will be in charge of the ceremonies. The commencement address will be delivered by Cardinal [illegible]. There will be selections by the Catholic University Glee Club and the Marine Band.

The All-Star After Dinner Club will feature a duet, "Home Made Heaven," by Marguerite Cromwell and James Wilkinson, tonight at 9:30 o'clock. Miss Cromwell will sing "It's Great to Be Alive" as her solo selection, and Mr. Wilkinson has chosen "My Heart Stood Still."

Mr. Re and Mi will feature "Me Calling You." Bob Trout will again appear as master of ceremonies.

FLAG DAY will be widely observed today. Floyd E. Thompson, grand exalted ruler of the Elks, will speak during a special nation-wide Flag Day program under the auspices of the Elks Grand Lodge. It will be broadcast from Monticello, Va., through the facilities of WRC in Washington at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon.

The annual Flag Day celebration of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of New York will be heard at 3 p. m. over WRC. The address will be delivered by Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia.

The Flag Day celebration at historic Gadsby's Tavern in Alexandria, Va., will be heard over WJSV at 3 p. m. with the Army Band doing the musical honors.

The ceremonies will coincide with the opening of the tavern which has been completely restored. With its new decoration Gadsby's will appear just as it did in the days of the Revolution when Gen. Washington made his headquarters there.

Watson B. Miller will speak at the American Legion Auxiliary Flag Day observance (WMAL, 10:15 a. m.).

WJSV will present an old-fashioned Hill Billy band tonight at 11:45 o'clock.

THE Corn Cob Pipe Club, whose program is heard each Wednesday at 9 p. m. will celebrate its first anniversary tonight as a Nation-wide network feature. Following five years of local broadcasting from Station WRVA in Richmond, Va., the club went on a coast-to-coast hookup just a year ago.

The programs are put on by real Virginia country folks. None of them ever had any professional experience and the "acts" they put on during the Corn Cob Pipe Club program are in no sense different than what they have been doing all their lives—singing, playing the banjo, guitar or fiddle, and imitating native characters.

Pat Binford, who has been master of ceremonies and director of the programs ever since they went on the air six years ago, is assistant superintendent of parks and playgrounds in Richmond. He never uses a script or continuity, switching the numbers around as he thinks best, and keeping up a running fire of comments. Buck Bannister does the realistic imitations of barnyard animals and fowls, and other local characters form the Crossroads Trio, the Fiddlers quartet, and other features of the programs.

Do you know what President Roosevelt's favorite song is? It's "Home On the Range," according to Herb Polesie, of the Musical Grocery Store, who said the President told him this at the White House last week. At least the press agent so reports.

That's the reason Herb arranged to have his Four Singing Clerks harmonize it last Friday.

Arthur Brisbane, editorial writer, will succeed Will Rogers on the Sunday night weekly talks beginning a week from Sunday.

Fred Stone, celebrated stage comedian, will take the place of Rogers next Sunday night.

"A GAME OF CHESS," a one-act play by Kenneth Sawyer Goodman, which enjoyed popularity on the stage, will be presented over WMAL at 9 p. m.

Phil Cook's Terry and Jerry will look in on a Century of Progress at Chicago tonight (WMAL, 7:45 o'clock).

William Hard will present Ralph D. Blumenfeld, famous American-born London editor, of the London Daily Express, tonight from London on the subject of the World Economic Conference (WRC, 8:15 o'clock).

"Bill and Ginger," harmony team, will inaugurate a new series of programs over WJSV this morning at 9:15 o'clock. Their broadcasts will be heard thereafter every Monday, Wednesday and Friday and will come from Philadelphia.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's words will be picked up from the University of Virginia at Charlottesville during the Farm and Home hour today.

A New Yorker at Large

By MARK BARRON.

NEW YORK—Speaking of coincidences, one might look upon the extraordinary way in which Francine Larrimore's career has been intermingled with that of the late Jeanne Eagels.

After her historic performances in "Rain," Miss Eagels was asked to play the leading role in a bombastic drama called "Chicago." Its author, a young newspaper woman, insisted that it had been written especially for the Sadie Thompson girl.

Eagels rehearsed the part, but, in what was said to be a fit of temperament, walked out. The red-haired Miss Larrimore, who looks very much like Eagels, went into the part and gave one of her greatest performances.

Two years later another young author came to Broadway with a play he had written for Eagels, but she died before she could play it. Again Larrimore was called in and she played the role meant for Eagels during its tryout tour, but never opened on Broadway.

Now Miss Larrimore is actually playing Jeanne Eagels in "Shooting Star," a drama based on the life of that tragic young figure. And her leading man is Barry O'Neil, who once was Jeanne's constant companion and often reported betrothed to her.

She Forgot Her Keys.

When Ann Andrews arrived at her apartment the other night she discovered she had left her keys in her dressing room. Returning to the theater, she succeeded in arousing the night watchman and, through a slot in the stage door, explained who she was and what she wanted.

Fearing a ruse on the part of burglars, the watchman refused to believe her story, further pointing out that he didn't know her as he never arrived for duty until after the final curtain and so had never seen the show.

No Luck.

Miss Andrews then suggested he go to the lobby of the theater, take a look at her pictures in the frames there and thus he could identify her.

The watchman did this and, returning, still refused to admit her, saying: "I'm sorry, lady, but you don't look like those pictures."

What the actress had forgotten was that the pictures had been taken of her in make-up and costume, which made her look somewhat more than different from when she was in street clothes.

An artist and personality the town misses is the late Hans Stengel. His tall, military figure and bald head was a familiar sight around Broadway for years. He'd stroll into a night club and sit alone all evening, moodily sketching on table cloths. One head waiter carefully saved several of those cloths and they brought a good price after Stengel committed suicide several years ago.

If you hear a guitarist playing a solo, you know that auburn-haired Mary Astor has requested it.

J. M. LOVE, VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR, DEAD

Former Fairfax Judge Was in Confederate Army Under Jackson.

James M. Love, former judge of the county courts of Fairfax and Alexandria Counties, died Monday at the home of his son, Thomas B. Love, 1925 S street northwest. He was 91 years old.

Judge Love was born at Fairfax Court House, Va., the son of Thomas B. and Anner Moss Love. He was descended from families who had borne a part in the history of the State since colonial days. At the outbreak of the war between the States he was a cadet at the Virginia Military Institute under Gen. Stonewall Jackson. He joined the "Black Horse" Fourth Virginia Cavalry, C. S. A., and served until severely wounded at the battle of Stephensburg.

Incapacitated for further service with his command, he was assigned to Capt. Beverley R. Mason, commissary of Gen. J. E. B. Stuart's Cavalry Division. Upon the cessation of hostilities, he returned to his home and practiced law in the office of his father, later becoming Commonwealth's Attorney of Fairfax County.

Founder of Marr Camp.

Judge Love was one of the founders of the Marr Camp, Confederate Veterans of Fairfax County. He was also a past commander of the organization. At the last meeting of the organization, June 1, he was one of the three living members of the camp.

He was one of the founders of the Confederate Memorial in the Fairfax Cemetery and also helped to establish the cemetery.

Judge Love, an ardent Democrat, was county chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Fairfax County from 1904 until two months ago, when he was forced to retire because of illness.

Funeral Services Tomorrow.

He was a vestryman of the Zion Episcopal Church at Fairfax.

He married Miss Maria Buchanan Weaver, a great-niece of President Buchanan. He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. George D. Freeman, jr., wife of Col. Freeman, U. S. A., and two sons, Col. James M. Love, jr., U. S. A., retired, and Thomas B. Love.

His other son, Lieut. Moss L. Love, U. S. A., and for whom Love Field, Dallas, Tex., was named, died in the crash of his plane at North Island, San Diego, Calif., in 1913.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. in the Episcopal Church at Fairfax. Interment will be in Fairfax Cemetery.

Rum Count Holds Maryland Driver

United States Commissioner Frank Parran, at Upper Marlboro, yesterday heard the case of John Browning, alias McGuire, charged with transportation and possession of 60 gallons of whisky. Browning was committed to jail to await trial before the Federal court.

Browning, who lives in Capitol Heights, Md., was apprehended near the town by R. A. Bradley and W. L. Carle, Federal prohibition men. The automobile he was driving was alleged to have contained ten cases of whisky.

The case of Joseph Washington, of Accokeek, Md., was dismissed by Commissioner Parran. Washington, who was charged with manufacture and possession of whisky, was arrested March 3, when prohibition agents found a dormant still on his property. It was ruled that the evidence was not sufficient to hold the man.

S. C. BRIGGS' DEATH IS DECLARED SUICIDE

Prominent Mining Engineer and Realtor Was in Ill Health.

A certificate of suicide was issued yesterday in the death of Southwick Cary Briggs, prominent mining engineer and real estate developer and horticulturist, who shot and killed himself yesterday at his home in Glenmont, Md. The certificate was issued by Dr. Edward A. Krause, of Silver Spring, who had attended Mr. Briggs for more than a year.

Despondency over continued ill health was given as the cause of the shooting. Mr. Briggs had been suffering from a heart ailment for more than a year.

Mrs. Alice C. W. Briggs, his wife, and Southwick W. Briggs, a son, were in another part of the house yesterday morning when they heard a shot. They went to Mr. Briggs' room and found him on the floor with a bullet wound in the heart and a .45-caliber revolver beside him. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Krause.

Mr. Briggs was a native of Albany, N. Y., and was a scion of the Southwick, Cary and Briggs families which have been prominent in New York and Connecticut for generations. In his youth he was superintendent of mines in Sonora, Mexico, and once was noted as an orchid grower.

He married Miss Alice C. Walbridge, of Washington, daughter of Herman Walbridge, who once owned most of the real estate in the Mount Pleasant section. Mr. Briggs managed this property and amassed a fortune. He suffered financial reverses in later years, however, and lost most of his capital.

The son, Southwick W. Briggs, is a well-known inventor, with offices in the Transportation Building. The Aeronautics Bureau of the Commerce Department is testing an oil filter invented by him at present at its experimental station in Arlington County, Va.

Mr. Briggs was a Mason and a member of the Chevy Chase and Metropolitan Clubs. Funeral arrangements had not been completed yesterday.

IF June 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:55 a. m. to 10:20 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 5:20 p. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:50 a. m. to 12 noon and from 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

The child born on this June 14 will probably prove to be a peculiar child in some respects. You will find him blessed with many fine qualities, but along with these he will exhibit at times many undesirable traits of character. The character of this little one and his ultimate success or failure depend almost entirely on proper guidance.

If June 14 is the date of your birth, you will no doubt cross many mountains and descend into many deep valleys during your life. You are one who must go through the "school of hard knocks;" you can not learn from watching others nor are you one to accept advice. More than likely you will take the long way around to success, but when you arrive, and you will, you will be a rather fine person. You have great spiritual depths which must be probed.

Born on June 14, you have many fine qualities, such as honesty, sincerity, friendliness, the ability to work hard and others. You have a good mind and you can reason logically. You do not, however, make the most of your blessings. You allow stubbornness, frequent outbursts of temper and a tendency to be haphazard in your work to mar your character and to hinder your advancement.

THE MEANDERER

Finds New Cotton Clothes Extremely Good Values; Thursday New Farm Market Day.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Summer wardrobes were never so smart for so small a cost, the Meanderer is certain, after examination of new arrivals in one flourishing department store. Cotton gowns which cost more than $10 are not nearly so numerous as those which cost well under $10. And some of the most satisfactory summer togs the shopper finds cost no more than $3.95 or $5.95.

Printed cotton laces which combine two or three colors and make frocks suitable not only for the street, but for afternoon special occasions, are marked $5.95 in the cotton corner of the big store the Meanderer visited. A brown, beige and orange printed cotton lace has a brown ribbon girdle and worn with brown accessories is most attractive. Or the shopper who wants to wear blue accessories will find similar frocks printed in blue shades with string color.

Beet root linen sun dresses are among the newest arrivals. The deep red shade has struck popular fancy, and may be found in sheer summer silks as well as in cottons.

Gloves of cotton materials are in endless variety. Fluffily Victorian, ultra feminine, fragile sorts of gloves are fluttering to the front of glove counters, getting many pleased exclamations from shoppers. Silk net gloves, sheer as cobwebs, have wide ruffled organdy cuffs, and complement perfectly the airy organdy and net summer gowns. This net and organdy fancy glove sells for $1.95.

Mits—not gloves—but mits without any fingers, such as Godey's ladies wore in the quaint fashion prints of long ago—are worn quite suitably with summer dance frocks of the romantic type. The mits are of silk or cotton lace, and cost $1.95 or less. None of the smartest cotton gloves cost more than $1.95, while many of them are priced at $1 or less.

Pique gloves with mesh side fingers, or pique gloves with the whole palm of the glove of mesh, are filling a popular demand. And silk pique gloves that fit smoothly and wash beautifully are $1.

"Mattiekay" is the name given to some fast-selling cotton, washable swagger coats, costing just $1.95, meaning, of course, that the material of the coats has a matelasse effect. The cut of these cotton coats is unusually smart, with tucked effects extending from trim yokes, giving the shoulders a more fitted look than the more loosely cut coat. A tie scarf of matching material, run through the collar in slits, may be replaced if the wearer desires with grosgrain ribbon or with other colored touches of ribbon or silk to match hats and bags.

The Meanderer begs to correct an announcement she made last week that a market operated by women from Montgomery County farms on the Old Georgetown road would open on Tuesdays and Saturdays instead of on Wednesdays and Saturdays, as had been the market's custom. This market will open today as usual and on all Wednesdays, but not on Tuesdays. Another market on upper Wisconsin avenue, conducted by women from farms, announces that beginning this week its market days are to be Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, instead of Wednesdays and Saturdays as heretofore.

RAISING A PREEMPTIVE BID.

RAISING a Preemptive bid is almost always a fairly dangerous proposition even when a great many honor tricks are held. Particularly when not vulnerable, the Opening bid may be made on nothing more than sheer hope and an idea of saving game at a cost of a two or three trick set. However, Preemptive bids must be raised occasionally, and I do not think that anybody could rightly criticize North on the following hand for contracting for the Slam.

South, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding was short and simple. South opened the bidding with four spades and North immediately bid six. It is possible that a better course for North to have followed would have been to bid four no-trump, over which bid South would probably have contracted for the Slam himself, as he held a fairly strong playing hand for a nonvulnerable four-bid. However, be that as it may, South found himself the Declarer at six spades.

The play was quite interesting. West opened the nave of hearts with the idea that a false card might help to fool the Declarer. This was won with the King in Dummy, and South found himself immediately disturbed by the question of reentries. It seemed that the clubs must be finessed and the fact that the heart entry had been knocked out made it necessary that this play be made at once. Consequently a low club was led, and South was extremely pleased to see the Ace go up in the East hand, as it seemed now that either the finesse of the Queen would work or some squeeze would develop. A trump was returned and, of course, was won in Dummy, following which Declarer ruffed a low heart and proceeded to lead five more rounds of spades. On these spades he discarded the Knave and Ten of Clubs in Dummy in order to leave himself a finesse of the 9-spot if this proved necessary, and all the diamonds but the Ace. On the last spade West was squeezed and was forced to discard his last diamond. When the diamond was led, therefore, West, unable to follow suit, discarded a low club, unguarding his Queen. Declarer, who had kept a very careful count of the cards played, had no hesitation in going up with his King of clubs after he had cashed the two Aces in Dummy. The 9-spot was good for the last trick.

Incidentally, it will be noticed that a diamond return by East at the third trick would have defeated the hand, as the Dummy would then have been dead.

Tuxedo Brewery Project Indorsed

Construction of the proposed brewery near Tuxedo, Md., has been heartily indorsed by the mayor and council of Capitol Heights, Md., it was disclosed yesterday at a meeting of the Prince Georges County commissioners.

The commissioners also heard a protest from a citizen of Berwyn, Md., against the operation of a roadhouse-dance hall in the town. The establishment, it was charged, was not only a nuisance but was operating without proper license. No immediate action was taken by the commissioners.

Before adjourning the body decided to authorize a new county road to run from the Cheltenham-Rosaryville road, through the Hugh Ellis farm, to the Nottingham-Rosaryville road.

24 Bottles of Gasoline Lead To Arrest on Arson Charge

Twenty-four hot-water bottles filled with gasoline, discovered in a burning house six weeks ago, yesterday were responsible for the arrest of Sanio Pennestri, 52 years old, of 732 Fifth street northwest, on a charge of arson preferred by the fire marshal's office.

R. C. Roberts, acting inspector in the fire marshal's office, revealed following the arrest the devious trail of investigation he had followed in order to gather sufficient information to order the arrest.

The 24 hot-water bottles, lying on the floor and connected by paths of straw, were discovered after the fire had been extinguished April 30 at 454 H street northwest, a 3-story brick house, vacant. Unable to find a dealer in the hot-water bottles among the larger Washington stores, Mr. Roberts solicited the aid of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which finally found the manufacturer in New Haven.

The bottles were then traced to a local 5-and-10-cent store and subsequently allegedly to Pennestri, whose wife owns the Fifth street property. Inspector Roberts said the property carries $3,000 insurance, but that this had not been paid.

Stocks Decline as Selling Coincides With Dollar Rise

Rails Fail to Halt Losses; Sales Volume Totals 6,304,540 Shares.

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Financial markets showed signs of weariness today, and closing prices in many directions were lower. Stocks stumbled into selling during the last hour coincident with a rally by dollar exchange.

Rail shares offered a helping hand to other stocks for a time in the afternoon, but their independent strength failed to draw much response; pivotal industrials, in fact, were noticeable laggards; nor did the utilities exhibit much courage. The dollar's advance, gaining momentum as the day wore on, apparently was a signal for heavy profit taking toward the close and there was a long list of 1 to 4 point net losses in all stock groups. Sales totaled 6,304,540 shares.

Fast movers of Tuesday's market slid back appreciably, though all of the previous day's gains, on the average, was not quite lost. American Telephone, Case, American Sugar and National Distillers dropped about 4 net. Allied Chemical, American Can, Du Pont, North American, Consolidated Gas of New York, Public Service of New Jersey, Sears-Roebuck and U. S. Steel yielded 2 to more than 3. United States Steel was off nearly 2. Rails also turned soggy; Union Pacific, which had been up half a dozen points, held about a sixth of its size, while most other carriers showed moderate losses.

That the market should react as the dollar advanced was not regarded as surprising in view of the close attention which has recently been paid in speculative circles to the gyrations of American currency. Possibly some attention was paid by long holders of stock to London reports of "crises" at the economic conference, though the market seemed well able to ignore these possible stumbling blocks when it chose to. Wall street naturally awaited eagerly Secretary Hull's opening speech which is expected to outline America's program.

Trade news continued cheerful. Several Western railroads reported larger loadings last week than for either the preceding week or a year ago; measured against volume for the latter period many of the gains were substantial. American Metal Market in its weekly summary of the steel trade's position and prospects said the industry would be "quite busy up to the middle of July as customers will specify very fully on their second quarter contracts for semifinished and finished steel products on account of prospective price advances." Mills are said to be planning to carry better inventories.

Curb Market Sags As Leaders Yield

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Stocks reacted rather heavily at the close on the Curb Market today, a number of leaders dropping 2 to 4 points. Utilities sagged, losing much of the appreciation sustained in yesterday's sharp advances in that group.

Trading was again heavy, sales approximating 1,280,000 shares, compared with 1,328,000 yesterday.

Business Expansion Hailed As Sound and Promising

New York, June 13.—In its weekly summary of the general business situation, the Standard Statistics Co., of New York, currently comments as follows:

"Business has continued to expand and broaden with hardly an indication of a letup. The steady rise in electric power output, which is basic both in industrial production and in domestic consumption, is a reassuring sign of the substantial base of the general trade revival. Operations at steel mills, now well above 40 per cent of capacity on the average, have been maintained largely by demand from automobile manufacturers, who are selling cars at a rate more than twice as great as the average monthly output of last year."

Rally in U. S. Bonds Fails to Halt Drop

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—United States Government securities and foreign obligations rallied in the bond market today, but elsewhere prices developed an irregularly lower trend.

Heavy trading in some of the secondary divisions put the sales volume up to $16,132,000, par value, against yesterday's aggregate of $13,108,000. The average for 60 domestic corporate bonds lost two-tenths of a point.

German loans recovered 1 to 4 or more points.

WHEAT VALUES SINK AFTER EARLY RALLY

Selling Predominates in Pit; Corn and Oats Join in Reactions.

Chicago, June 13 (A.P.).—Despite transient upturns to fresh high price records for wheat and rye, all grain values averaged lower today.

Augmented selling developed on every advance, and proved to be a handicap impossible to overcome, except during brief intervals. The selling was largely ascribed to profit taking on the part of Eastern speculative holders, and in some quarters was partly ascribed to complaints credited to the Secretary of Agriculture that recent price advances had interfered with plans to effect acreage reduction in wheat, corn and cotton.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅜ to ¾ under yesterday's finish; corn also was ⅜ to ¾ down; oats, ⅜ to ⅝ off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 15 cents.

Stocks Aid Rallies.

Stock market rallies helped the temporary gains scored by wheat and other cereals. There were also numerous unfavorable crop reports, notably from South Dakota, where the rye crop was described as almost a failure in the east half of the State. A detailed official report said much wheat in the eastern third of Nebraska had already been lost.

Sellers predominated in the wheat pit most of the day, however, especially at the outset and the finish, when news from the Economic Conference at London and in regard to war debts was construed as bearish. Lower temperatures and scattered showers over domestic grain territory tended further to check enthusiasm of buyers. Winnipeg advices that grasshopper menace to Saskatchewan crops was the worst in ten years received only passing attention here.

Corn prices were inclined to lag owing to continued liberal receipts, with the corn visible supply the largest since 1928. Oats sagged with wheat and corn.

Provisions were easy as a result of scattered selling.

Stocks.

Selling followed rises in dollar exchange and prices sank 2.5 points. Rails failed to halt the reaction. Sales volume increased to 6,304,540 shares.

Bonds.

Rallies in United States and foreign bonds were unable to prevent a lower trend in the market. Losses averaged two-tenths of a point. Sales increased to $16,132,000.

Curb.

Prices reacted rather heavily as utilities weakened. Much of Monday's appreciation was lost. Sales approximated 1,280,000 shares.

Wheat.

Selling developed and values sank in late trading. Early rallies were defeated. Corn and oats joined the decline. July wheat sold at 77⅛ to 77¼ cents.

Cotton.

Trading was less active and a waiting policy on curbing legislation resulted in losses of 7 to 13 points. July sold at 9.26; October, 9.52. Liverpool prices were lower.

COTTON PRICES CUT ON LIGHTER TRADING

July Sells at 9.28, With the General Market Down 7 to 13 Points.

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—While there were spurts of activity, general business in cotton today was less active with the trade apparently inclined to await definite developments with reference to acreage curtailment. After selling off to 9.51, October closed at 9.52. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 7 to 13 points.

The opening was 4 to 9 points lower in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of continued favorable weather in the South.

Active months sold down 9 to 12 under the early pressure, but later the market steadied on trade buying. This was sufficient to encourage a renewal of local support which was further stimulated by the mid-day rally in the stock market, but after selling up to 9.39 for July and 9.80 for December, or 1 to 3 points net higher, prices eased to the lows of the day under renewed liquidation.

Russian Credit Plan.

Negotiations for a Russian credit for the purchase of American cotton, as reported in Washington dispatches, was a matter of considerable interest in the trade, but without much effect on the market.

Closing quotations were 10 to 14 points off from the best.

Liverpool cables were lower than due on the New York close of yesterday, but a steady tone was reported in that market on Indian buying and there were also reports of a large inquiry for cotton cloths and yarns at Manchester.

Exports today 7,112 making 7,467,287 so far this season. Port receipts, 17,390. U. S. port stocks, 3,746,625.

Cottonseed Oil.

Bleachable Cottonseed Oil was steady today closing 4 points higher to 1 net lower, influenced by a bullish consumption report. Sales were 13 lots.

CLASS OF 313 GETS NATIONAL DIPLOMAS

Representative West Speaks at Graduation Exercises in Continental Hall.

A new economic system, virtually "a great national machine," is emerging from the depression to cope with problems confronting the United States, Representative Charles West (Democrat), Ohio, told the graduating class of National University at the sixty-fourth annual commencement last night in Memorial Continental Hall.

Honorary degrees of doctor of laws were conferred upon Secretary of Commerce Daniel D. Roper, Associate Justice James M. Proctor, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, and Representative West. A total of 313 degrees also were conferred on the graduates.

"No collegiate generation of recent years has witnessed the far-reaching changes in the economic and social institutions of our country which have been observed and studied by this graduating class," Representative West asserted.

"Out of the depression there has emerged a great national machine, a new economic system, the far-reaching consequences of which are just being realized, to bring order out of chaos.

The exercises were opened by the Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. Dr. Hayden Johnson, chancellor of the university, presided, and conferred the degrees. James Joseph Butler delivered the valedictory.

Associate Justice Jennings Bailey, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, awarded the medals and prizes. Lorena Galbraith received the MacArthur Gold Medal for the highest average in the senior class and the gold scholarship key of Omicron Chapter of Kappa Beta Pi Legal Sorority for the woman student who attained the highest average throughout the three-year course. Louis Rothschild, director of the Better Business Bureau, was given the Siddons Gold Medal for the best final examination in constitutional law. Ralph R. Browning received the Mu Chapter of Sigma Delta Kappa Fraternity scholarship key for the member having the highest scholastic average for the three-year course. Anne Marchant received the Charles Francis Carusi gold award for the highest scholastic standing during the graduating year in the School of Economics and Government.

The degree of doctor of juridical science in course was conferred upon Alfred Francis Dees and Marriner Daines Morrell. The degree of doctor of jurisprudence in course was conferred upon Emmett Robert Carroll, Isadore Friedson, Ira Dwight Scott and Edwin Holt Stevens.

National University conferred other degrees, as follows:

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Aircraft—April production of airplanes and engines exceeded that of any previous month of 1933 except in military engines, the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce reports. Ninety-one planes valued at $1,581,055, and 93 engines valued at $1,597,303 were turned out during the month.

Chemicals — Iodine preparations have been advanced 30 to 35 cents a pound owing to higher costs of crude material following fluctuations in exchange.

Men's wear—The trade hears that a number of men's wear mills are planning further increases on suitings, topcoatings and overcoatings. The advances contemplated by one of the leading units are said to range from 7½ cents to 10 cents a yard.

Copper—Market observers say the tone is slightly easier though sellers continue to quote 8 cents a pound. There have been further reports of second-hand sales at 7¾@7⅞ cents.

Wall St. Briefs

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—April shipments of pneumatic casings totaled 3,653,948 units, an increase of about 75 per cent over March but 1.2 per cent under April, 1932, says the Rubber Manufacturers Association, Inc. Directors of Electric Auto-Lite Co. have taken no action on the quarterly common stock dividend of 30 cents for this quarter or on the payment on the previous quarter, decision on which had been deferred until the June meeting. A regular quarterly payment of $1.75 on the preferred has been ordered, payable July 1 to holdings of record June 23.

The reorganization plan of the Booth Fisheries Co. of Delaware has been declared operative and will be submitted to the Federal court for approval, it is announced by Millar Brainard, chairman of the reorganization committee. About 94 per cent of the first mortgage holders and bank creditors have assented, while 88 per cent of the preferred stock and 79 per cent of the common have been deposited with the committee.

Twenty-three ships with raw silk cargoes will dock at West Coast ports in July. Twelve will land at San Francisco, five at Los Angeles, four at Seattle and two at Vancouver.

The West and South, says the agency, continue to make "an excellent showing" in comparison with 1932, while a substantial decline is also recorded for Eastern territory.

"If the conference fails, civilization will be so disappointed and grieved that we may as well paddle our own canoes," said the senator.

He is one of the six official United States delegates.

CLARK TRIAL ENDS; JURY DEADLOCKED

22 Hours' Deliberation Fails for Third Time to Bring Verdict in Case.

Hopelessly deadlocked after 22 hours of deliberation, the jury trying Berry E. Clark, former clerk to the Montgomery County commissioners, on charges of embezzlement was dismissed yesterday by Chief Judge Hammond Urner and Associate Judge Arthur D. Willard in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville.

The jury was brought into the courtroom at 4:10 p. m. When Judge Urner asked if there was any possibility of their reaching an agreement if allowed more time, several jurymen answered at once and very emphatically: "Not a chance, your honor."

The foreman, Roger T. Pumphrey, of Germantown, said that the jury had not changed its vote from 9 p. m. Monday night.

Judge Thanks Jurors.

Judge Urner said that he regretted the lack of a verdict, but did not want to keep the jurors an unreasonable time if there was no chance of a verdict being reached. He thanked the jurors for their attention to the evidence during the seven days of the trial especially under such unfavorable weather conditions.

The jurymen told reporters that they had been tied 6 to 6.

Clark and his defense attorneys, Albert M. Bouic, F. Barnard Welsh and Thomas L. Dawson, wore broad smiles as they advanced to shake hands with the jurors.

State's Attorney Stedman Prescott also smiled as he left the courtroom. He later conferred for nearly an hour with the judges. It is believed that he was discussing the possibility of obtaining a change of venue for the case in view of the fact that three juries had failed to agree.

Tried Three Times.

Prescott is determined to go ahead with the trial of Clark, but whether or not he will ask for a change of venue he refused to reveal, saying that he had not had time to make any plans as yet.

Clark has been tried three times on the first of 97 indictments returned by the county grand jury alleging embezzlement. The specific charge was embezzlement of $426 in county money. The 97 indictments alleged embezzlebent of more than $50,000.

Clark's trial for the third time on the same charge is believed to set a record for the county.

Spanish Prince Gives Up Rights

Paris, June 13 (A.P.).—The Prince of the Asturias, son of former King Alfonso of Spain, who is soon to marry a commoner, today signed a renunciation of his royal rights in favor of his brother, Don Jaime, it was learned from a high Spanish source.

The former king, who opposes his son's marriage to Senorita Edelmira Sampedro, daughter of a wealthy Cuban merchant, delegated the Duke of Miranda to go to Lausanne and make a final effort to induce the prince to abandon the marriage, it was stated.

The duke failed and then had the prince sign a document drawn up by attorneys whereby he formally renounced all rights to the throne for himself and his descendants.

ABOUT THE SHOW SHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

Jane Morley.

JANE MORLEY, a former Broadway beauty who has graced the stage in many Shubert productions, and now is capitalizing a psychic gift that has manifested itself ever since she was 4 years of age, will make her local debut as an interpreter of the past, present and future, on the Club Michel Roof tonight.

This, I believe, will mark the first time that an "act" of this character has been offered in the Capital as the major feature of an informal "floor show." The intimacy thus engendered should prove an asset rather than a liability to one deriving her divinations from a reasonably close contact with her subject.

Miss Morley's last appearance in this city was as a member of the "Little Miss Simplicity" company, which Eric Wright, her husband and manager and one of the theater's well-known publicists, reminds me had Walter Catlett as its star. Mr. Catlett, of course, has gone on to greater eminence as a stage comic and more brilliant luster still as one of the cinema's eminent clowns.

Although Miss Morley has been aware of her strange endowment since early childhood, it was while she was on the stage that she acquired a considerable reputation for her ability to read the past and forecast the future. It was not long until she was consulted by actors, actresses, chorus girls and executives for advice in the solution of their various difficulties and problems.

It was this experience in the theater that finally determined her future course as a psychic. A test tour demonstrated the wisdom of her judgment.

She comes now to Washington and the Club Michel Roof in pursuit of the new career which, so far, has been marked by a succession of eminently successful engagements.

Miss Maxine Doyle, mistress of ceremonies at the Earle and big dramatic actress, has recently acquired a high-powered roadster which she pretends to know how to drive, although as yet Miss Doyle has never been seen at the wheel. As a matter of fact, no one, as yet, has even seen the wheel!

However, with all this transportation standing at the door, Miss Doyle now is in quest of a simple little country place of 50 or 100 acres or so, away from the city's heat, where her fur-bearing flea that masquerades as a Pekingese—or maybe it's a Pomdeterranean—can go in for soup retrieving in the grand manner and she can chase the elusive firefly and find out how it gets that way!

Under the conductorship of Joseph Cassanta, long the institution's musical director, the University of Notre Dame Glee Club and Varsity Quartet will headline the stage bill at Loew's Fox, come Friday. The 35 young men comprising the touring organization are now completing their first theatrical engagement at the Capitol Theater in New York.

This unique tour was arranged by Tom O'Brien, who will be intrusted with the guidance of the boys through the East and Middle West until it is time for them to return to their scholastic duties at South Bend.

The personnel of the Glee Club and Quartet represents a total of some 30-odd cities in 26 States. Included in their repertoire are both the "Victory March" and "The Fighting Irish," so familiar to every loyal son of the South Bend institution of higher learning made famous by the late Knute Rockne. Or, perhaps better said, made MORE famous by the late Knute Rockne.

Ever since Al Jolson remarked it to me last Saturday morning, I have been trying to remember to pass it on to you that Aline MacMahon, who is appearing in the Winnie Lightner role in "Gold Diggers of 1933," at the Earle—and making a very handsome job of it, too—a few years ago was a member of his chorus in the old Shubert productions at the Winter Garden in New York. Al thinks her best bit in "Gold Diggers" is where she goes serious and persuades Dick Powell to pull Barney Hopkins' "Forgotten Melody" out of the fire and give all them gals a job! He might be right.

Incidentally, the daddy of all the mammy singers thinks the "Forgotten Man" number should have been moved up to a spot earlier in the action of "Gold Diggers" and the picture ended on the flash of Guy Kibbee comparing his features with the Pekingese pup's in the looking-glass the biggest laugh in the film. I say, he might be right!

There ought to be an aphorism somewhere to fit the case—like "It takes an exception to prove the rule," or "It takes all kinds of actors to make a show world," or something. I mean this business of Benny Rubin, headlining this week's stage show at Loew's Fox, strolling down E street past The Post well before noon. Who ever heard of an actor's barging out into the sunlight at the crack of dawn like that!

No matter who it is you wish to see on the screen this week, you can see him almost anywhere you turn in. That is to say, Warren William is visible in both "Gold Diggers," at the Earle, and "The Mind Reader," at the Columbia; Ginger Rogers is in both "Gold Diggers" and "Professional Sweetheart," at RKO-Keith's; Frank Morgan is conspicuously cast in both "The Nuisance," at Loew's Fox, and "When Ladies Meet," at the Palace, and that's the way it goes.

His parts being what they are, Mr. William is the only one who can be said to be doubling in "brass!"

Of Mr. Morgan's two efforts, the better by far is with Mr. Tracy in "The Nuisance," at the Fox. As the publisher and ostensible lover in "When Ladies Meet," it seems to me, Mr. Morgan is distinctly miscast. Indeed, in the opinion of this column, the entire cast of the cinema version of Rachel Crothers' delightful play is distinctly inferior to the group of stage players who presented the piece at the National the week of April 3.

Ann Harding, as the disillusioned wife, retrieves a performance that gets off very badly by a bit of sound and substantial work in the climacteric moments of the action, and Myrna Loy turns in a consistently even portrayal of the young novelist whose theories couldn't quite stand the acid test, but Alice Brady hopelessly exaggerates the role of Bridgie, so deftly and subtly played on the stage by Spring Byington.

It is significant of the manner in which Mrs. Crothers' script has been "written down" to the grasp of a supposedly mentally arrested public that its revised version should contain such inexcusable crudities as "when I think about she and Walter" and "You look like Spring has come."

I suspect that Irving Thalberg was sorely missed on this one.

Mlle. Jacqueline Doret, the "most beautiful blonde" in Paris, a subject of the current newsreels and winner of the M-G-M Parisian "Jean Harlow Contest" in the French capital, will be the guest of Col. Harry A. Long, Loew's division manager, pinch-hitting for City Manager Carter Barron, on leave in Atlanta this week—not under Federal auspices—when this Gallic beauty makes a flying visit to the Capital tomorrow. Mlle. Doret will arrive at Hoover Airport at 10 a. m., be greeted by the French Ambassador, make a tour of points of interest, including Mount Vernon and Arlington and tomorrow night will entrain for New York, whence she will sail back to that dear Paree Friday.

The first "Bing Crosby" auditions held at Station WJSV last night were participated in by Arnold Freshman, 1235 New York avenue; John D. Lyons, 2010 K street; Jack Kaufmann, Hyattsville, Md.; Bing K. Mattox, 2009 I street; Charles B. Meyer, Cherrydale, Va.; Albert B. Baker, Falmouth, Va.; Randolph Phillips, Colmar Manor, Md.; Anthony H. Christie, Interstate Commerce Commission; Bill Cuff, 607 New Jersey avenue, and Gene Flynn, 435 Tenth street northeast.

Further auditions will be held at the WJSV studios in the Shoreham Building tomorrow night. The winner will be announced Friday and will be awarded a cash prize of $25, in addition to all the fun he has had—if any—being mixed up in the "College Humor" preliminary ballyhoo.

When the weather man says cool, he evidently means cool—and if he construes this as a complaint, he's crazy.

SCHOOL BOARD LETS GROVETON CONTRACT

Fairfax to Construct New Building on Washington-Richmond Road.

The Fairfax County, Va., school board yesterday let the contract for the erection of the new school building on the Washington-Richmond highway at Groveton in Mount Vernon district. The contract price is $24,497, which includes a bonus of $600 for completion of four rooms for use by September when school opens. H. D. Moring, of Farmville, Va., was the successful bidder. Other bids ranged upward to $43,190. The school, which is to be the elementary school center for Mount Vernon district, will contain six rooms when completed.

Because of the lack of necessary funds, it is stated, the new building will not be as large as needed and for the time being the present Groveton school will be used. Two teachers will hold classes in it during the coming term. This arrangement may be necessary for several years, it was stated.

Superintendent Wilbert T. Woodson told the board that he had completed arrangements for financing the construction and that the condemnation committee for the land have placed a value of $400 as agreed between the board and W. F. P. Reid, the owner. Reid is a member of the county board of supervisors, which made the condemnation committee necessary under the State law.

The new building will be financed by a State literary fund loan of $18,200, which is two-thirds of the completed cost; donation by the Groveton Community Club, $1,100; sale of abandoned school property, $1,000; accrued special district school levy, $1,000, and a temporary loan in anticipation of collection of special district school levy, $3,000. The Community Club's donation was with the understanding that they have the use of the auditorium of the new school for a meeting place.

The board also let contract for the coal supply for next fall to O. G. Snyder, of Falls Church. The coal to be placed in school bins for $6.19 per ton. Private school bus transportation contracts were let to practically the same operators as last term with readjustments in rate of compensation in accordance with revision of routes created by the construction of the new Groveton school.

The school board will hold a special meeting, June 23, to consider bids for the purchase of five new school buses and bodies.

Wyatt, Chisox, Near No-hit Game

Gullic's Single, Two Out in 9th, Only St. Louis Blow.

CHICAGO, June 13 (A.P.).—A clean single over second base by Ted Gullic after two were out in the ninth inning today cheated John Whitlow Wyatt, 24-year-old right-hander, out of a no-hit game, as the Chicago White Sox defeated St. Louis, 6 to 1.

Wyatt, who was obtained from Detroit recently in a straight trade which sent Vic Frasier to the Tigers, had yielded a run in the third, chiefly due to his own wildness, but as far as hits were concerned, there was nothing like one until the Brownie third baseman, with the count one ball and one strike, laced one over second.

Three St. Louis Hurlers Pounded.

The White Sox, meanwhile, cracked Hank McDonald, Sam Gray and Rolland Stiles for 14 hits, with Gray the chief sufferer.

The only run off Wyatt was scored on passes to Mervyn Shea and Muddy Ruel, who batted for McDonald, followed by Art Scharein's sacrifice and an infield out. McDonald was forced to retire due to recurrence of an injury to his side.

It was Wyatt's second straight victory since joining the Sox, who went back into third place in the American League when Washington defeated Philadelphia.

Giants Defeat Braves, 6-3, as Vergez Doubles

New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Johnny Vergez atoned for making three errors of the seven charged to the Giants today, by walloping a double in the eighth inning to drive in two runs and give New York a 6-to-3 victory over the Boston Braves. He scored the third run of the winning rally on Gus Mancuso's third hit of the game after driving in Mel Ott and Bill Terry.

Carl Hubbell helped keep the Giants out of trouble in spite of their wretched fielding by allowing only six hits and only one earned run.

Reds' Jinx Holds Good And Cubs Bow Again

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 13 (A.P.).—Lon Warneke encountered the old red jinx that has followed him this season, and the Cubs today lost a close game to Cincinnati by a score of 2 to 1.

It was Warneke's fifth loss this season and the fourth time the Reds have taken his measure. Paul Derringer kept the Cubs under control, allowing but six hits, none of them for extra bases.

The Reds scored a run each in the first and third, and the Cubs' lone tally came in the seventh.

Johnson Had Fastest Ball, Mungo Next, Tests Show

NEW YORK, June 13 (U.P.).—Van L. Mungo, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, throws a faster ball than the famous Lefty Gomez of the New York Yankees, but neither of these hurlers can approach the speed registered by Walter Johnson when he was strikeout king of the major leagues 21 years ago with Washington.

These facts were announced today in a copyrighted story by Daniel, baseball writer of the New York World-Telegram, after an official test made by the department of ballistics and mathematics at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Mungo's triumph over Gomez came as a distinct surprise to the baseball world because the Yankee's ace left-hander was believed to be one of the two fastest throwers in the majors today, probably as speedy as Bob Grove of the Athletics. Grove did not take the test.

The Dodgers' young right-hander registered a speed of 113½ feet per second on his best throw, but the chronograph showed that Gomez's best heave was at the rate of only 111 feet per second. Mungo's ball would have covered the 60 feet 6 inches from the mound to the catcher in .533 seconds, while Gomez's pellet would have required .55 seconds.

On October 6, 1912, Walter Johnson, who last week was appointed manager of Cleveland, hurled a ball at the rate of 122 feet per second. His test was made at the Remington Arms Co., Bridgeport, Conn.

ANZAC TEAM ENTERS NET SEMIFINAL

Meets Japan Next as British Face Czechs in Davis Cup Play.

By ROBERT E. DOWSON.

QUEENS CLUB, London, June 13 (U.P.).—Australia defeated South Africa today to complete the make-up of the European zone Davis Cup semifinal round.

Australia will now meet Japan while Great Britain plays Czechoslovakia.

Much of the British hopes depends upon the play of Fred Perry, who recently seems to have gone stale. He has played some three years almost constantly, and of late his game has become erratic. It is to be recalled that Perry was defeated by Jiro Satoh, the great Japanese player, and by Giorgio Destafani of Italy, in Davis Cup play at Eastbourne.

Lee May Give Perry Needed Rest.

Tennis circles today heard a report that Harold Lee, third-string Britisher, would be used in place of Perry against the Czechs to give Perry a much-needed rest.

Vivian McGrath, the young Australian, will be a closely watched player in future cup ties. He has been playing brilliant tennis this season despite being defeated today.

The Australia-South Africa quarter-final tie was decided, today, three matches to two, when the veteran from down under, Jack Crawford, won the final singles match with Colin Robbins, 6—4, 6—1, 6—0. Earlier in the day the tie had been brought to level, two matches each, when McGrath was defeated by Vernon Kirby, 6—8, 6—0, 6—2, 6—2.

2D SHUTOUT IN ROW FOR INDIANS

Hildebrand Allows 2 Hits as Tigers Bow, 1 to 0.

DETROIT, July 13 (A.P.).—A fine pitching duel between Oral Hildebrand and Tommy Bridges, which saw but four men reach third base in the entire game, ended in a 1-to-0 victory for the Cleveland Indians in a series opener with Detroit here today.

The winning score came in the ninth when Vosmik tripled and scored on Pytlak's single. Hildebrand set the Detroit batters down with two hits, both of them singles.

Boss Hurt Following Triple.

Bridges yielded seven hits, one a triple by Boss, who was removed from the game after wrenching his knee when he slid into third.

It was the Indians' second consecutive shutout victory under Walter Johnson's management.

Western Trip Now Faced By Nats

Exhibition Today at Wheeling; Return Here July 8.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER JOE CRONIN and his Nats left town last night and will not return here until July 8, when the Cleveland Indians, now led by Walter Johnson, will be the visiting attraction. According to the league schedule, the Nats and Tribe open their series on Friday, July 7, but this game was postponed in order to make sure that Joe Cronin and any Indian likely to be selected to play in the game between American and National League stars at the Chicago World's Fair on July 6, could reach the Capital City in time.

This postponement will not rob fair fans of a ladies' day attraction, as President Clark Griffith will have them as guests of the Nats on the following Monday.

Two exhibition games have been listed before the Capital Cityans open their second Western invasion in St. Louis Saturday. Today the Wheeling team will be met there, while the American Association's Indians will be played in Indianapolis tomorrow. All but four players took the trip to Wheeling last night, Pitchers Al Thomas, Walter Stewart, Al Crowder and Jack Russell being left behind. They will have morning workouts today and tomorrow and will leave direct for St. Louis tomorrow afternoon.

While President Clark Griffith admits that there is still a chance that he will land Pitcher Sammy Gray from the Browns, he states that he does not expect to do any other business before the trading season ends

Russell Halts Athletics in Relief Role

Manush Makes 5 Hits in Row as Nats Win Fifth Straight.

Goslin's Wallop Over Wall, One On, Ends Deadlock in 7th.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH (Sports Editor of The Post).

THOSE hit-hungry Nats, who have been batty on the subject for the past week, lapsed into another fit of violence with their shillalahs yesterday and clubbed three of Connie Mack's choice pitchers into a jellied substance.

Heinie Manush and Goose Goslin were the chief clubbers. Manush went berserk to the extent of five consecutive base knocks, two of which were doubles. But his was a mild case compared to Goslin's. The Goose started out sanely enough with a base on balls and then worked himself up into a fury with a pair of doubles that served as a warm-up for his home run over the right-field fence with a man on base that unlocked a tie and won the ball game in the seventh inning.

The upshot of the matter was that the Nats spread 15 base hits over the premises, plastered the A's with a 10-6 defeat, won their fifth straight ball game, climbed to within 2½ games of the losing Yankees, and deposited the Philadelphia club into fourth place 3 points ahead of Chicago.

Goslin and Manush Outstanding.

They were a couple of sweet ball players yesterday, Goslin and Manush. At the moment that Goslin had crossed the plate on his home run to put the Nats in an 8-6 lead, he had scored four of the runs and Manush had scored the other four. Rube Walberg and Leroy Mahaffey couldn't keep 'em off base and it was against Lefty Grove in the eighth that Manush made his fifth straight hit.

But reserve a paen of praise for young Jack Russell, the kid from Cleveland, who is putting himself in solid with his relief pitching. Al Thomas threw up the sponge on the request of Cronin in the fourth inning, and turned the job over to Russell. He was poison to the A's.

Possessor of the sharpest-breaking curve among the entire Washington pitching staff, Russell turned the A's back with one lone, scratchy hit and one lone unearned run in the last five innings of the ball game to hold them at bay, while Manush and Goslin rustled the ball game out of Mahaffey in the seventh inning.

Cronin and Schulte Hit Timely.

Washington heroes were plentiful yesterday. There was Joe Cronin, who pounded out a single and a double to knock in three runs, and there was Fred Schulte, who pounded in three more. The top of the Nats' batting order was a wicked combination and even the bottom chimed in with a couple of tallies.

The A's were still in the ball game up to the seventh inning. They had spotted Walberg to two runs in the first, gave him two more to work with in the second, saw the Nats tie it up

POST MORTEMS . . .

MAD WIND ALWAYS LEADS IN FEATURE AT LINCOLN FIELDS

3 Outsiders Finish in Money

Yonkel Beaten by a Neck, With Habanero Third.

Flying Hour, 1 to 5, Wins 4th in Row at Belmont.

LINCOLN FIELDS, Ill., June 13 (A.P.).—Darting into the lead at the start, A. A. Baroni's Mad Wind led all the way in the Victoria Hotel Purse, at a mile and a sixteenth, to beat out Yonkel by a neck at Lincoln Fields today.

Wayne Wright hustled Mad Wind into the lead during the first furlong and managed to keep him there to the finish. Jack Westrope, on Yonkel, made a sensational bid in the stretch, but Mad Wind had just enough left to get the decision. Habanero was third. The time was 1:45 1-5.

The three horses in the money were outsiders, the favorite, James Norris' On Sir, finishing well back. Mad Wind paid $15.78 to win, $8.20 to place and $5.50 to show. The place and show prices on Yonkel were $13.92 and $8.14, respectively, and Habanero paid $6.10 to show.

Fourth in Row for Flying Hour.

Belmont Park Race Track, New York, June 13 (A.P.).—Mrs. W. M. Jeffords' filly Flying Hour won her fourth straight purse in the Star Jasmine, a 6-furlong dash over the main course which topped the program here today. The Galetian filly proved the shortest priced winner of the local season, being held at 1 to 5. As in her past three outings, the fleet chestnut won in hollow fashion, scoring by five lengths to give Jockey Johnny Gilbert a double.

W. R. Coe's Enactment was second, two lengths before W. L. Brann's Fair Crest, a 100 to 1 shot. The time was 1:13, made over a slow track.

It wasn't much of a contest, Flying Hour outclassing her field. Gilbert swung the filly into early command and the prohibitive favorite skimmed along with a long lead which never was threatened. Accent tired chasing the winner and Enactment took up the chase, but Flying Hour gave her backers no cause for apprehension.

NATS LEAVE TODAY FOR WESTERN TRIP

tomorrow night. "We're pretty well set as we stand," said the Nat owner. "We could not expect to get any one particularly good without giving up some material we could hardly spare and I'm satisfied to stand pat with what we have."

Catcher Madjeski and First Baseman Jimmy Foxx had a slight collision while chasing Myer's foul in the home first. The latter was tripped after making the catch, but hung on to the ball. Madjeski got into the game when Mickey Cochrane awoke yesterday morning with a stiff neck.

When Manush singled in the first, he extended his consecutive game-hitting streak to nineteen.

Of the first nine hits of the game, six were doubles and one was a triple.

Bishop made a pretty play when he raced over toward first to take Thomas' roller, which bounded off Walberg's glove, to make the out at first.

Did you notice where Shortstop Williams played when Goslin was at bat? He was back on the grass on the right side of second base.

It is sometimes hard to figure out the strategy of a strategist. With three balls and no strikes on Cramer in the fourth, Bishop tried to steal second, apparently on orders from Connie Mack. He was an easy victim of Sewell's perfect peg. This cost the A's a run.

Myer, usually quite busy afield, did not have a chance until he took Coleman's looper ending the alien sixth. He threw out all three Mackmen in the final round for his other chances.

One of the young "traffic directors," several thousand of whom were guests of the Nats, reached out of a field box in left in the seventh and stopped Manush's drive. This held it to a double. The fact that Heinie was denied a triple did not do any harm, though, for Goslin followed with his homer.

Cramer backed up against the flag pole for an overhead catch of Kuhel's long looper in the lucky frame. It looked like a sure extra-base blow as the ball left the bat.

Goslin's only fielding chance came in the eighth, but he was much in evidence otherwise throughout the game.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LINCOLN FIELDS, JUNE 13.

Well, friend, looks like the whole country was flooded with Sister Madge money today. The filly, running at Bainbridge, opened at 20-1, came down to 8-1, went up to 15-1 and then crashed to a close of 5-2, according to Mike, who looked them over down at a Loop pool room. The Sister was well meant, however, and she finished in the second hole. Can't be much of a horse when she couldn't beat the top one. Well, I'm having my troubles right here at this track. If you don't believe it, check today's results with yesterday's picks. Honesty is the best policy. BILL.

FIRST RACE—NIGHT SHIP showed a lot of promise in that recent outing and may use this race as a vehicle to graduation. Is a well-bred youngster and goes into action backed by a formidable workout. ESSIE WESSIE is the one to beat. Last on the list, however, BOSTONIAN GIRL for the show.

SECOND RACE—BILLIE'S ORPHAN came through with a brilliant effort the last time out, being just nipped for the purse. Off that effort gets the Bennings call. MRS. LET and BABEE are fair ones and may fill out the money positions.

THIRD RACE—This looks like an auspicious setting for BRAVE AND BOLD, an old friend from Maryland. Goes into action with only a steadying impost and the company is not too classy. SKY HAVEN is in with a 100-pound feather and may be prominent. OUTBOUND appears to have an edge on the others.

FOURTH RACE—GILBERT ELSTON carries light weight in this 5-furlong sprint and, providing he draws a capable rider, will not be far out of it at any stage. I predict a set of brackets. SECRET TRYST has a fine race to his credit. DAVOC to show.

FIFTH RACE—MR. SPONGE is asked to carry only 110 pounds in this sprint. The former Widener color-bearer is in top form and all that remains is hanging up that $3.20 mutuel. MERRILY ON is sharp now and will do the upsetting if such materializes. DYAK to show.

SIXTH RACE—SWEEP RUSH ran a powerful race for me recently and I'm going to try to defeat the "chalk" as represented by GOLD BASIS. The latter is speedy now and the top fellow can ; ake no mistakes. FAIR ROCHESTER for the minor award.

SEVENTH RACE—SCIMITAR can fool some of the people some of the time, but Friend Bennings is forced to place him on top of this heap. The improved BATTLING ON for the place ahead of WATCH TOWER.

EIGHTH RACE — LIONHEARTED gets another chance. Shapes up as well as anything in this field. GAILLARDIA is a fair sort and may place. EVELINE F. could awake to make a money appearance.

ST. JEROME'S WINS.

St. Jerome's midgets of Hyattsville won their fourth straight and their eighth out of nine starts by drubbing Southern Methodist Juniors, 7 to 1, yesterday afternoon in Magruder Park.

St. Jerome's has listed a game with the Autoville nine of Berwyn for Saturday at 3 o'clock in Magruder Park, while Sunday at 11 o'clock Ballston (Va.) Midgets will be engaged on the same field.

Mid-Atlantic Golf Opens Today

District Entries Now 25; Stars to Play Tomorrow.

Special to The Washington Post.

CATONSVILLE, Md., June 13.—With the field boosted to 80 as a result of 18 additional entries today, the Middle Atlantic Golf Association's championship tournament will get under way tomorrow over the Rolling Road course here, with 25 District amateurs among those battling for the crown that now adorns the head of Ernie Caldwell, lanky young Hillendale golfer.

With half of the contestants slated to tee off today in the 18-hole qualifying round, the Middle Atlantic committee tonight announced that post-entries would be accepted.

Save for three entries from the Congressional Country Club, the District contingent will confine all of its medal play to Thursday when such smooth performers as Harry Pitt, of Manor, 1928 Middle Atlantic champion, and winner of the Manor and Baltimore invitation crowns; Roger Peacock, of Indian Spring; Maurice Nee; Miller B. Stevinson and John Shorey will swing into action.

Of the Capital entries competing today, Hank O'Donnell tees off at 1:15; Frank Weller at 1:20 and Franklin Parks at 1:25, with Baltimore golfers their partners.

Here are the pairings and starting times for the late entries:

Stars Enter Marathon Event

Michelsen, Pawson in Title Race Here on Saturday.

A THRILLING duel between two of the greatest distance runners in the field today looms Saturday in the National A. A. U. marathon with Whitey Michelsen, representing the Millrose A. A. of New York, and Leslie Pawson, of Pawtucket, R. I., entered.

A veteran of scores of long-distance runs, Michelsen ranks at the top of the victory list. The veteran has been breaking the tape ahead of the rest of the field consistently almost since he was first able to toddle around. He has competed in various races staged here before and is well known among Washington sports fans.

Pawson Set Record In Boston.

Pawson established a new world record in the Boston Patriots' Day race, winning by a close margin over Dave Komonen, of the Monarch Club, Toronto, and reports from Pawtucket indicate that he is ready for another record-breaking effort.

Should Komonen find it possible to come here for the race, and there is a chance that he will, the battle for first place will be at least three-cornered, for the Finn is anxious to meet his recent conquerer again. He has won several races since the Boston run and has yet to meet defeat.

Bill Greiner, bearing the colors of the Washington Track and Field Club, carries the city's hopes for a triumph. Greiner was setting a record-breaking pace when forced out of the Patriots' Day classic. Haskell Clarke, Jerry Looney and other well-known local runners are entered.

Circuit Clouter

whose sixth home run of the season delivered yesterday's game into the keeping of the Nats.

NATS WIN SLUGFEST FROM MACKMEN, 10-6

in the fifth at 6-to-6, and then sent in Mahaffey to preserve their chances.

But all pitchers looked alike to Manush and Goslin. Manush opened the seventh with a two-base slice down third base way and waited for Goslin to do something. The Goose faked a bunt and took a called strike. Mahaffey then teased him with a slow ball. But there was nothing slow about the slow ball after it met up with Goose's lunging bat and it sailed south over the right field wall in a nice trajectory to deliver Manush and Goslin at the plate with the runs that decided the ball game.

The Nats tacked on a couple more runs later in the inning when Mack permitted Mahaffey to suffer out there despite the fact that Grove was in the bull pen, but with Russell carrying on in the way he was carrying on, these two tallies were superfluous, to say the least.

Five thousand members of the schoolboy traffic patrol were guests of the teams yesterday and they got a swell lesson in traffic on the bases, starting with the first inning. Cramer and Johnson doubled against Thomas and Foxx singled to admit two runs across the platter, which the Nats got back on Cronin's single and Schulte's fly with Manush and Goslin on base.

The A's returned to the attack with two more runs in the second when Cramer clouted a triple to right center, but it was 4-4 again in the third when Manush and Goslin doubled in succession and Cronin singled. Bishop's single scoring Williams in the fourth drove Thomas out of the box and gave the A's a 5-4 advantage until the next inning, when the Nats went in front, 6-5, after Manush singled, Goslin doubled and Schulte brought them both home with a single to center.

Back into a tie the game went in the sixth after Bluege's wild throw put Williams on base and Mahaffey's bunt skidded through Russell and Kuhel. Cramer's fly scored Williams.

But the A's got no more hits off Russell, and Manush and Goslin were laying in wait for Mahaffey in the seventh when all the competitive angles went out of the ball game.

17-Year-Old Turnesa in Star Role

Youngest of Golfing Brothers Shoots 71 With 4 Deuces.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 13 (A.P.).—Still pursued, as it were by amateur goblins, Capt. Walter Hagen and his Ryder Cup forces, already smarting under the setback administered to them by 23-year-old Johnny Goodman at Chicago, in the open championship, yielded the spotlight today in a series of charity matches to a 17-year-old high school lad, Willie Turnesa.

The professional team, mustering its full strength often homebreds for the first time, won four out of five best-ball foursomes against a picked team of metropolitan amateurs led by Jess W. Sweetser, but young Turnesa stole the show. He shot the best round of the afternoon, an even par 71, over the 6,800-yard Metropolis Club course, and paired with the home club champion, Howard Bergman, to beat Horton Smith, of Chicago, and E Dudley, of Wilmington, Del., by 2 and 1, to the huge delight of a gallery of nearly 1,000 spectators.

Young Turnesa Has Four Deuces.

Young Turnesa, four of whose brothers are professional golfers, shot spectacular golf. He had birdie deuces on all four short holes, with putts ranging from 3 to 25 feet. But for a missed 2-footer on the first hole, three putts on the third and a drive out of bounds on the sixth, he would have come close to the course record, 67, held by Paul Runyan, the home club pro. Willie was in only one trap, on the fifteenth hole, and then finished brilliantly to beat the best score made by any of the Ryder Cup aces, Gene Sarazen and Densmore Shute, of Philadelphia, each posting 72, to divide the $300 prize money offered the professionals.

The Elmsford (N. Y.) school boy's round was sufficient to hold the best ball of Smith and Dudley all square. His partner, Bergman, came through with enough help, including a birdie on the eighth, to decide the match in favor of the amateurs. Turnesa's card follows:

Out .... 5 4 5 2 4 5 4 4 2—35
In .... 5 5 4 2 4 6 2 4 4—36—71

The professionals had comparatively little trouble winning the other four matches, although Sarazen, the British open champion, and Olin Dutra, P. G. A. titleholder, never had much working margin in defeating George J. Voigt and Eddie Driggs, 2 and 1. The amateurs tossed away their chance to prolong the issue by driving into trouble on the long fifteenth. Sarazen's 72 carried most of the burden, Dutra shooting an erratic 77, while Voigt had a 76 and Driggs a 73.

Navy and Va. May Play Here in 1934

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., June 13.—Washington is virtually assured of at least one big-time football game during the season of 1934, as tentative arrangements have been launched to play the Navy-University of Virginia game there, according to announcement made today by Lieut. Comdr. Harvey E. Overesch, graduate manager of athletics at the Naval Academy.

The game is scheduled for Saturday, October 6, and Griffith Stadium will be the scene of the battle, according to plans. Neither Navy nor Virginia is prepared to release complete schedules for the 1934 season.

The Middies and Cavaliers are renewing grid relations the coming fall, after a hiatus of many years, having entered into a two-year pact, and the 1933 game will be the big home engagement for Navy. It will be played in Thompson Stadium on October 21, a week following Navy's clash with the Pitt Panthers at Pittsburgh.

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

THAT wallop over the right field fence yesterday by Goose Goslin, the old homing bird, carried sweet tidings into the American League's vital statistics, which this morning show the haughty Yanks only 2½ games in front of the batty Nats.

Joe Cronin's slug-nutty ball club has lopped exactly 3½ games off the lead of the haughty Yanks, who haven't been so hot during the past week. Seven days ago the Yankees were breezing along in the American League regatta with a six-game lead in their sails and threatening to make a boat race out of the pennant race.

But the meat of the matter is revealed in the "lost" column of the league standings. A week ago the Nats had lost eight more games than the Yanks, games gone irretrievably, games that the Yankees still had to play with an excellent chance to gain more ground. This morning, the Nats have lost only four more games than New York, which fell on evil ways in Philadelphia and Boston.

Dynamite in Goslin's Bat of Late.

Not since Pepper Martin ran wild on the bases against Mickey Cochrane in the St. Louis-Philadelphia series of 1931 and sloughed the Athletics' pitchers for a batting average that looked like the Treasury balance has any ball player enjoyed such a streak of success as Goose Goslin in the past three games.

The Goose's four hits yesterday, climaxed by his home run over the fence that won the ball game, was the third brilliant chapter of a daily installment he has been writing with his big bat and twinkling toes for the Nats.

Goslin started on his rampage in the final game of the series at Boston, when he slammed two singles and a home run and stole both second and third in succeeding innings. Sunday, in the first game with the A's here, he rapped out a single and then whacked three successive doubles and scored each time he was on base. Yesterday he scored four runs, drove in two, hit two doubles and took one round-trip stroll.

Goslin, Manush Make Fast Climb.

A week ago the Goose was hitting a mere .296. Today his average has zoomed to .323. But Heinie Manush's rise has been almost sensational. The Dutch treat outfield of Manush, Schulte and Goslin has been whaling the daylights and the rabbit, too, out of the official ball.

Be it known that Manush has now hit safely in 19 consecutive contests to run his average up from the .290's to .316. And be it known further that Manush is now boasting a record of seven straight hits as a result of the five consecutive blows of yesterday that he tacked on to his two safe hits in his last two appearances against Philadelphia pitching on Sunday. And he made his seventh hit off none other than Lefty Grove.

The Nats are indeed a socking crew this season.

RUNS, HITS AND ERRORS.

Lest it be forgotten, Goose Goslin was benched in Boston last week because he wasn't hitting . . . Walter Johnson benched Sam West for the same reason two years ago . . . and then used him as a pinch hitter late in the game . . . and Sammy won the contest with a home run with a man on base . . . why did Connie Mack leave Lefty Grove in the bull pen with the score tied at 6-6 and then call him in for the ninth with the team four runs behind? . . . Mack alone can answer that . . . the A's with Madjeski catching are not the A's with Cochrane catching . . . Madjeski struck out, popped to Cronin, struck out and struck out . . . if looks could kill, Umpire Summers would have been a dead man in the seventh inning after he called a third strike on Cronin . . . who bore him through with a "Well, I'll be ——" stare.

SUTHERLAND IS GOLF WINNER

Card of 160 Takes Title By Stroke

Miller, of Treasury, Second in Departmental Play.

By DAVE HERMAN.

MAJ. RICHARD K. SUTHERLAND is the new interdepartmental golf champion. The broad-shouldered Army and Navy Country Club champion, yesterday added to his laurels by being acclaimed the links king of the Government employes by virtue of his rounds of 81—79—160, scored on Monday at Washington Golf and Country Club's course and which stood up, despite a second day threat by such sterling players as Maj. E. A. Noyes and J. J. Lynch.

Sutherland, who succeeds Tom Belshe as medal champion, is a member of the War Department. His score was good enough to beat out John R. Miller, of Beaver Dam, Treasury's star, by one stroke, and Maj. Noyes and Lynch, by two each.

Noyes Falters on Last Nine.

Noyes, also of the War Department, a former Army and Navy Club champion, reeled off a 79 in his morning round, but floundered in the afternoon for an 83 to wind up with 162. Lynch carded an 83 during his first 18-hole journey and made a bold attempt to overtake Southerland in the afternoon, but his best efforts could only bring him a 79 and a tie with Noyes.

None in yesterday's play came close to threatening Trowbridge's lead in the individual low net battle, and his 83, 82—165—26—139 gave him the championship.

The War Department carried off the lion's share of the titles. Its crack foursome, consisting of Sutherland, Noyes, Belshe and Baj. Earl Naiden, won the Mellon Trophy, emblematic of the Class A gross championship, with a total of 661, and it also won the Class B title, along with which went the John Marshall Trophy.

Justice Team Lands Victor Cup.

The Victor Trophy, awarded to the team scoring the lowest net in Class A, was given the Justice outfit. It had a total net score of 613.

Prizes and trophies were awarded last night at Washington Golf and Country Club at a banquet which followed the termination of the two-day tournament.

Zaharias Threatens Londos' Mat Title

George Zaharias, the powerful chap who is preparing to throw Jim Londos for a loss at the ball park tomorrow night, admits that the alleged champion will have to do better than ever before if he expects to step down from the ring the winner. Gawge is dead certain that he is going to surprise Londos and perhaps take away his title claims.

The two have met before and Zaharias threw the head man of the circuit twice, but, sad to relate, the falls happened to be the first of three-fall matches and Londos always managed to rally and take the deciding two. Tomorrow night's match is of the one-fall variety, and if Zaharias can get the first—that's all he'll need.

What roughness, if any, that is missing in the main go will be supplied by Ernie Dusek and Frank Speers in the semifinal. Pat O'Shocker is down for a bout with Dick Raines; Abe Coleman tangles with Andy Brown and George Kotsonaros meets Paul Jones in the preliminaries.

Ladies will be admitted for half price if accompanied by paying escorts, while children under 16 years of age will be charged only 25 cents. All receipts over and above the actual expense of staging the show will be donated to a food fund for the needy.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

ANIMALS, almost without exception, depend upon plant life for their food—they either eat vegetation or eat animals which do. But the reverse is true for one strange class of plants that live on animal food. One of the strangest among these is the cobra plant, which, besides its habit of eating flies and other insects, looks strangely like a snake, the cobra.

The mechanics of a plant's eating an animal is much the same as that of an animal eating a plant. The plant's mouth remains open until a fly or other insect ventures into it, then, by some impulse not yet fully understood by science, the plant snaps shut its jaws to hold the victim. Digestive juices secreted by the plant absorb all the edible parts of the insect, leaving only the shell.

Roots of the fly-eating plant are its anchors which hold it in the ground, instead of its source of food supply as in the case of most plants.

The giant brother of the little fly-eater, whether in fiction or in fact, is said to be able to trap and eat large animals—even humans. Whether this giant animal plant ever lived, or was created in the mind of some imaginative observer of the little plant, is a question upon which science can not agree, there being no positive evidence on either side.

Colors give added realism to strange things and happenings illustrated by John Hix on a full page in The Sunday Post.

BATTLE MAY RESULT IN 2 DARK HORSES AS D.C. COMMISSIONERS

Vigorous Attacks Launched on Eligibility of Several Prominent Seekers.

By J. BERNARD M'DONNELL.

The battle over the jobs of civilian Commissioners of the District has taken on the aspect of a desperate battle royal with no blows barred and the result may be that two dark horses whose names have not been heretofore seriously advanced may be named.

Attacks on the eligibility of several prominent candidates have been launched by friends of others and the mud-slinging contest has been added to by an attack on Joseph J. Cotter, Washington attorney, because he acted as an attorney for Edward L. Doheny, millionaire oil man, in the negotiations and inquiry incident to the leasing of naval oil reserves during the Harding administration.

Opponents of Malcolm S. McConihe, who was a delegate to the Chicago convention and has been a Roosevelt supporter for years, have broadcast the fact that two years ago Mr. McConihe told the District assessor he was a resident of New York in order to escape payment of personal property taxes in the District. Unless the President chose to disregard the law governing appointment of District Commissioners, that would make Mr. McConihe ineligible for appointment, although he has lived here for a number of years and has engaged in real estate, banking and investment businesses.

Residence Is Disputed.

Melvin C. Hazen, District surveyor, also is eliminated as a legal appointee according to his opponents. They point out that Mr. Hazen has paid capitation taxes in Virginia within three years. The capitation tax entitles a resident of the Old Dominion to vote there.

Friends of Mr. Hazen insist that he merely paid the capitation tax along with the other taxes on his property in Virginia. But his opponents counter with the statement that Mr. Hazen took out a hunting license as a bona-fide resident of the State, thereby eliminating his claim to Commissioner because the law says that a Commissioner must not have claimed residence elsewhere for three years.

The interesting thing about the attack on these individuals is that they have emerged from the free-for-all to be considered as most likely to be named. The name of each man has been presented to the President on the very restricted list submitted to him last week by Postmaster General James A. Farley. They were supposed to be the wheat which had been separated from the chaff of several scores of candidates.

Fight Widely Discussed.

The fight has become something of an outstanding social battle in the National Capital. The Commissioners are being discussed over tea tables and dinner tables and on golf courses and over lunch tables in the Senate and House, in clubs and in homes.

Joseph P. Tumulty, who was Secretary to President Wilson, yesterday joined the ranks of those who are said to be active in the fight, but who modestly deny their right to the mantle of Warwick. Mr. Tumulty made public a statement in which he said, in substance, he would like to see Mr. Cotter appointed, but he was not doing anything to bring about his appointment.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, retired, who is a frequent visitor to the White House and is reported to have assured Mr. Hazen he would see he was appointed, previously had heatedly denied having anything to do with local politics.

Offutt Looms as Choice.

Wilton J. Lambert, prominent attorney, who has been regarded as a king-maker for a number of years, also denies having any hand in the matter, as have others of lesser influence.

Out of the welter the name of George W. Offutt is emerging once more as a man who might be selected. Mr. Offutt is popular, is regarded as capable and has been identified with various civic projects and has been willing to work along on various civic matters which haven't won much publicity.

Friends of Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, incumbent, believe he will be renamed. Gossip, however, is that Ernest G. Walker will be one of the commissioners and a relative of Mrs. Wilson, widow of the President, will be chosen as the other.

Dr. Wyman Named To Head Dentists

Dr. W. W. Wyman was unanimously elected president at the District of Columbia Dental Society's annual meeting last night in the Medical Building of George Washington University. Dr. B. E. Erikson was unanimously elected president-elect, which corresponds to the office of vice president. They were unopposed.

Dr. Charles L. Smith was elected chairman of the publications committee for a term of three years, this giving him membership on the executive committee for that period. Dr. George Albert Smith was elected chairman of the oral hygiene committee for the same term, with consequent membership on the executive committee.

Dr. Stephen C. Hopkins, Dr. James W. Brown, Dr. Daniel F. Lynch and Dr. Harold W. Krogh were elected to the executive committee for one year and the incoming president has the privilege of naming three more members to this committee.

Zebbi Goldsmith Held For Liquor Possession

Zebbi Goldsmith, well known in local sporting circles, was arrested yesterday and charged with maintaining a nuisance and illegal possession of liquor, in connection with the raiding of an alleged speakeasy at 1141 Connecticut avenue northwest Monday, of which he was said to be the proprietor.

He posted a $1,000 bond for appearance in Police Court June 19. Two colored men were arrested on the scene of the raid and charged with illegal sale and possession.

Zoo Suspends Cat Keeper

Dr. Mann Acts as Dr. Miller, "Ocelot Tamer," Testifies That Guard Gave Him Permission to Select Any Animal.

The keeper from whom Dr. Aubrey G. Miller says he received permission to select any animal in the Zoo was suspended last night, while the wildcat tamer had a successful day in court by obtaining a postponement of his trial.

The suspended keeper is Charles E. Kern, who denied to Dr. William M. Mann that he handed out any animals to any one, and particularly any wildcats. However, Dr. Mann says he will continue his investigation of the reputed donation of the wildcat from the Tropics.

The champion wildcat tamer of Washington—he tames all nine lives—yesterday fared not so badly when he was arraigned in Police Court on charges of taking private property and intoxication.

The good doctor, who alone and unaided, tamed an ocelot so well that the ocelot up and died Sunday, had a trial postponed until June 23 when he was arraigned before Judge John P. McMahon on a charge of taking the animal.

Later on he went into another court, where his personal bonds were taken to guarantee his appearance when he is wanted to answer to a charge of intoxication. The doctor bore visible evidence of his unchallenged ability as the champion wildcat tamer.

When Judge Schuldt asked him to raise his right arm to take his personal bond, Dr. Miller grinned and said that he "had caught a wildcat, Judge," and he intimated that the arm wasn't in a raising condition. He was told that he must have had a hard time letting loose of the ocelot.

Dr. Miller is said to have taken the ocelot, which weighed about 15 pounds, Sunday. The animal was found dead, the cause of the demise being as yet unknown, when the physician was lodged in a cell at the old Tenth Precinct station. He is at liberty on $10 collateral.

SLAYER, 78, PLEADS FOR LIFE SENTENCE

Koch, Guilty, Asks Court to Impose "Limit" in Killing of Son-in-Law.

Albert Koch, 78 years old, late yesterday made a fervent plea to Justice Daniel F. O'Donoghue in District Supreme Court to "give him the limit" after he had been found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the slaying of his son-in-law, William P. Palmer Gray.

Evidently shaken by the verdict, Koch arose to his feet and explained to Justice O'Donoghue that he was an old man, and that if he had to serve any time at all he would like to be given "life."

"I am an old man. I won't want to come out of prison and be left without friends or resources. Judge, will you give me the limit," he said. The maximum, under the code, is 15 years.

Koch shot and killed his son-in-law in a fight at 1420 North Capitol street last February. The fight is said to have started when Koch remonstrated with Gray because he would not get a job.

The father-in-law was slapped by Gray, and fearing, he said, that he would be greatly harmed, the old man got a rusty revolver and fired one shot. The bullet struck Gray in the stomach and caused his death in Sibley Hospital shortly afterward. Attorneys E. Russell Kelly and Charles Ford represented Koch, while Assistant United States Attorney John Fitzpatrick prosecuted him.

Sentence will be passed Friday.

Mrs. Lewis Speaks To Civitan Club

The young people graduating from school this year will be seeking advice on their life work. Tell them "To mark time, but not to lose time," said Mrs. Mary Catherine Lewis, of the Lewis Hotel Training School, in an address yesterday before the weekly luncheon meeting of the Washington Civitan Club.

Mrs. Ethel Bonuso, radio artist, entertained the club with vocal selections. Mrs. Robey Richmond, of Hollywood, Calif., was a guest of the club, as also Mrs. Martin W. Hysong, former president of the Zonta Club of Washington.

In the absence of President Shelton T. Cameron, who is with the Washington delegation attending the annual convention of Civitan International at Memphis, Tenn., Martin W. Hysong, vice president, presided.

U.S. NET IS CLOSING ON AUCTION RACKETS

Activities of Nation-Wide Gang Are Bared After Arrests Here.

A Nation-wide group of archracketeers, specializing in mulcting large shipments of merchandise from manufacturers and jobbers and then disposing of their loot at hurried auctions, is rapidly being hemmed in by the Federal Government, Lunsford Hamner, prominent member of the local bar, disclosed last night to a Post reporter.

Hamner, for many years representative of national manufacturing and merchandising concerns in mail fraud and other criminal matters, said arrest here a fortnight ago of two Philadelphia men on Federal warrants was an opening blow in the offensive against the type of fraud employed by the ring.

He did not charge these men with being members of such a ring, but said their activities were similar to those of the group being investigated.

Statement by Turnage.

The men arrested are David Herman Cohen, 53, and Max Gratman, 36, both giving Washington addresses, but said to hail from Philadelphia.

United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage last night said Cohen and Gratman were arraigned before him on June 2 on a Federal warrant charging conspiracy to bring stolen property into the District.

The men are alleged to have opened a "dummy" furniture store in Lexington, Ky., after establishing a quasi-credit status in that city. They are then declared to have ordered merchandise valued at $1,500 from four national concerns represented by Hamner.

When the shipment arrived, just before an investigator of one of the concerns, the goods were quickly reconsigned from the Lexington store to Washington.

"Plant" Is Posted.

Postal authorities and Washington detectives were notified and posted a "plant" at railway receiving points. Finally on June 2, the men were apprehended, it was learned, in the act of claiming the goods.

Hamner obtained an attachment, he said, for the impounding of the goods, pending litigation incident to the investigation.

A formal hearing will again be given the men Friday. They were released on $10,000 bail after the preliminary hearing at which they were granted a continuance.

PARK SAVINGS BANK JURY PROBE LOOMS IN LARGE SHORTAGE

So-Called Wildcat Loans to Privileged Borrowers Are Reported to Rover.

Possibility of the District grand jury being asked to probe the collapse of the Park Savings Bank loomed yesterday when it became known that United States Attorney Leo A. Rover had received from the Department of Justice a final report on the conditions found in the bank.

The grand jurors will be informed of so-called wildcat loans to privileged borrowers. They will also be informed as to peculations laid directly at the door of Robert S. Stunz, former executive officer of the bank, who committed suicide in the basement of his home just prior to the closing of the bank.

The charge that will be investigated in connection with the "inside borrowers" is that they conspired with persons whose identity is as yet unknown to steal money from the bank. The theft is alleged to have occurred through the medium of borrowing money on collateral that was worthless.

"Hard Liquor" Supplies.

Stunz is known to have purchased most of his "hard liquor" supplies with money that actually came from the bank. This was done through manipulations that left the bank holding notes in return for the purchases. The actual shortage in the bank will reach well in excess of $1,300,000, the report showed.

Progress was reported yesterday in the clarification of the local restricted banking situation. Members of the general subscription committee entrusted with the task of selling $1,250,000 worth of new stock for the proposed Hamilton National Bank of Washington announced satisfactory results. More than $1,050,000 worth of this stock has been subscribed to date.

Hamilton Bank Meeting.

A continued advance in the procurement of stockholders' and depositors' agreements to the reopening of Franklin National Bank as an independent institution and under its present title also was reported by officials of that bank. More than $2,116,000 worth of a necessary total of $2,200,000 of these consents has been obtained to date.

On Friday afternoon special subcommittees of the organization committee for Hamilton National Bank of Washington will report on possible additions to the board of directors of the prospective bank to be announced later; the condition of assets of the seven restricted banks forming the new bank and which of the ten buildings of these banks will be retained as branches of the proposed institution. There will be a meeting of the general subscription committee for the new bank tomorrow at 4 p. m. at the main office of Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co.

Jury Trial Asked For Auto Dispute

Conflicting stories told by Lieut. Thomas C. Thomas, U. S. N., and Mrs. Ivy Norwood, will be threshed out before a jury in Police Court June 21, it was indicated yesterday when the lieutenant appeared in answer to a warrant and demanded a jury trial.

The warrant was sworn out by Mrs. Norwood and was issued by Assistant United States Attorney Milford Schwartz, who had been told the officer acted unruly when an automobile in which he was riding collided with a machine in which Mrs. Norwood was a passenger.

Mrs. Norwood's story is that after a collision on Wisconsin avenue the naval officer abused her and attempted to choke her. This was emphatically denied by Lieut. Thomas, who said that the car in which Mrs. Norwood and her sister were driving on Wisconsin avenue, cut in front of the machine in which he was a passenger and caused a mild shakeup. He asserted that he only took Mrs. Norwood's arm to lead her back to her machine. The complainant is an entertainer at the Villa Roma. Lieut. Thomas is at liberty on $100 bond.

Plane Takes Injured Man Off Ship at Sea

Flying 150 miles out to sea on an errand of mercy, the Coast Guard airplane Adhara yesterday removed a critically injured man from the steamer Shawmut off Boston and flew him back to a hospital.

A sailor on the Shawmut had suffered a concussion of the brain and as his condition became critical a call for help was sent out. The Adhara left its home base at Gloucester, Mass., at 7:30 a. m., landing beside the steamer 2 hours later. The injured man was taken aboard the airplane and 2 hours later he was in a Boston hospital. It would have required 24 hours for the Shawmut to turn around and bring the sticken man into port.

MISS PERKINS PLANS MODEL JOB BUREAU

New Employment Office to Train Personnel Here for Whole Nation.

An employment office which will be a model for similar offices throughout the country will be set up in Washington under the terms of the Wagner law authorizing a cooperating State and Federal employment service, Secretary of Labor Perkins said yesterday.

The Washington establishment may also serve as a training school for workers in the other offices. The premises of the local exchange, its personnel, its records, and its method of job analysis will all be arranged according to the most modern employment service practices, Miss Perkins said.

Frederic A. Delano will be treasurer of the advisory board to be set up under terms of the Wagner bill, Miss Perkins said, with Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, as chairman of the board.

In an attempt to block private employment agencies which are receiving unduly high fees, the Department of Labor will soon make arrangements to give information on how to get jobs with the various projects of the new public works bill.

The District would be used as the experimental ground for unemployment insurance under a bill introduced by Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, and referred to the Senate District Committee.

Workers receiving less than $2,000 a year would be entitled to benefits not exceeding $15 a week, or half their weekly wage, during periods of unemployment, under the measure, which will not be considered by the committee until Congress reconvenes in January.

The large block of Federal and District government employes would be exempted from its terms.

$2,500 FOR PROBE OF RENTS IS VOTED

Senate Adds Appropriation to Fourth Deficiency Bill as Rider.

The Senate last night voted a $2,500 appropriation to pay the expenses of the Public Utilities Commission's rent investigation, attaching the item as a rider on the huge fourth deficiency appropriation bill.

The amendment was adopted on motion of Senator William H. King (Democrat), Utah, chairman of the Senate District Committee. It will be considered in conference with the House along with other changes in the big deficiency measure.

The amendment is in line with action taken last week by the Senate authorizing the Public Utilities Commission to take up the rent inquiry where the Senate District Committee left off, until Congress reconvenes in January.

The previous resolution authorized the commission not only to collect data on rents and to subpena witnesses and records, but to "receive and adjust" complaints about rental conditions.

Holland's Charge May Be Modified

District Attorney Leo A. Rover indicated yesterday that a manslaughter charge would probably be pressed against Elmer W. Holland, 25-year-old special policeman, in connection with the shooting of Mrs. Leila Morrison.

The accused young man has been released from District Jail in $5,000 bond. A technical charge of murder was placed on police arrest books against him, but Mr. Rover said that this would not be put before the grand jury.

Funeral services for the slain woman will be held at 10 a. m. today at the undertaking establishment of W. W. Chambers, following which interment will take place in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Man Arrested for Murder.

George Andrew Miles (colored) 25, of 2702 N street northwest, was arrested yesterday and charged with murder in connection with the death of Benjamin Cole, also colored, about a month ago. Police discovered Miles asleep on a farm near Catholic University.

UTILITIES BODY ASKS PHONE COMPANY FOR DEPRECIATION REPLY

Commission Wants to Know if Order for Data Is to Be Honored.

The Public Utilities Commission has directed a specific inquiry to the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to ascertain whether the latter intends to comply with the commission's order to provide certain data on depreciation charges by August 1, it was learned yesterday as representatives of several State commissions prepared to renew their demands this morning before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The District commission desires to know at once whether or not the local telephone company plans to decline to supply the information and to challenge the commission's jurisdiction over telephone depreciation charges.

Refusal Is Expected.

Until the Interstate Commerce Commission postponed the date for receiving data on telephone depreciation from all the Bell system's subsidiaries through the several State commissions, there was little likelihood that the Chesapeake & Potomac officials would raise any objections. Now, however, there is good reason to believe that the telephone company may balk and the commission may be forced deeper into litigation.

Though the District commission's order to the telephone company made no reference to the I. C. C. call for depreciation data, its dates corresponded with those set by the I. C. C. Last week, however, the I. C. C. gave the telephone company another year to gather the data requested so that it is not due until August 1, 1934. The District commission still insists that it receive the information by August 1 this year.

Demands to Be Renewed.

The District commission, together with a dozen or more State commissions, today will resume their demands for certain changes in the classification of accounts prescribed by the I. C. C. for all telephone companies. These changes have been worked out in detail by a subcommittee of accountants, and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has been given two weeks to draft a reply, which also will be revealed at the hearing.

Yesterday afternoon Riley E. Elgen, vice chairman, and William A. Roberts, special counsel, of the District commission, made final plans for the hearing in conference with Dr. Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the New York Public Service Commission; Fred P. Gruenberg, of Pennsylvania; Paul Walker, of Oklahoma, and David Lilienthal, of Wisconsin.

Beer Drinker May Stand Long as He Is Capable

A beer drinker may stand and there is no law in the District that can make him sit down. Inspector Lewis I. H. Edwards, assistant superintendent of police, stated yesterday in answer to queries about the District code.

Although the law requires that sellers of beer on tap provide chairs, it is another case of leading a man to beer, but you can't make him sit, he said. Beer deliveries on Sunday are legal, he also asserted in answer to questions received by the department.
